Stubbs Inquiry Again Crowds Winnipeg Courtroom

Attorney-General Of Manitoba Is Cross-examined

Throng in Courtroom at Times Laughs as Counsel For Judge Stubbs Questions Provincial Cabinet Member Who Laid Charges

FUNCTIONS OF JUDGES DEBATED

Counsel Asks Attorney-General Why His Salary Cut 18 Per Cent and Judge Stubbs's 50 Per Cent

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Jan. 13.—Argument between counsel for the defence and Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General of Manitoba, as a witness, monopolized this morning's session of the commission hearing charges of judicial misconduct against Judge Lewis St. G. Stubbs.

Prior to the opening of the hearing the courtroom resembled a reception hall for the accused jurist. Standing beside the counsel table, Judge Stubbs was for some time surrounded by persons who broke loose from the large crowd and made their way to the table to shake his hand and extend their good wishes.

The federal commissioner is Mr. Justice Frank Ford of the Alberta Supreme Court.

Cross-examination of Mr. Major was begun by E. J. McMurray, counsel for the accused, Winnipeg county court judge, after the witness had enumerated particulars of charges he brought against the judge.

SPECTATORS LAUGH
Several times counsel became caustic in his remarks to the witness and brought laughter from the crowded courtroom. He asked what the Attorney-General thought of the functions of the judiciary, which the witness had claimed was being undermined by the conduct of the judge.

To administer law with impartiality, Mr. Major said.

"Do you know of any further functions?" counsel asked.

"If you show me any further light on what you are referring to, I'll tell you," witness answered.

JUDGES MAKE LAW
"You need the light, don't you?" counsel retorted, amid laughter from the court.

"I'll tell you what the functions are. The judges make the law. You may pass the laws in the Legislature, but the real law is in the judge's interpretation."

As counsel and witness continued their argument the little grey-haired fifty-four-year-old judge sat back in his chair at the counsel table and smiled. Behind him were seated three of his daughters and a son, while another son sat beside him.

PERSIA BUYS BRITISH PLANES

First Group of Big Order Now on Way to Teheran

Canadian Press
London, Jan. 13.—The first batch of a big consignment of British single-seater and two-seater fighting airplanes for the Persian Air Force are on their way to Teheran. Other batches are to be sent at intervals until the whole contract, aggregating in value about $1,000,000 and covering full flying equipment for three squadrons, has been filled.

The aircraft are extremely fast and are said to rank easily among the finest military airplanes in the world. Thirty of the national air forces in the world are now largely equipped with British flying material.

BILL PASSED OVER SENATE

Washington, Jan. 13.—The United States House of Representatives to-day passed the Philippine independence bill over the veto of President Hoover, given earlier in the day. The Senate has yet to act, however.

Asserting the measure invited "grave dangers of foreign invasion and war," the President contended in a lengthy message that its terms would lead to the economic downfall of the islands.

Pointing to a "chaotic" situation in the Orient, and to the immense neighboring populations near the islands, the chief executive suggested there be no immediate curtailment of the power of the United States, and that the Philippine freedom "be taken fifteen or twenty years hence."

As counsel and witness continued their argument the little grey-haired fifty-four-year-old judge sat back in his chair at the counsel table and smiled. Behind him were seated three of his daughters and a son, while another son sat beside him.

Jobless Man's Underwear Taken

Clothesline Raided During Night, Pandora Resident Discovers; Good Underwear Disappears, But Old Clothes Remain

Another claimant for the title of the world's meanest thief appeared on the horizon in Victoria this week.

An unemployed resident living on Pandora Avenue, awoke Wednesday morning to discover his clothes line had been raided during the night.

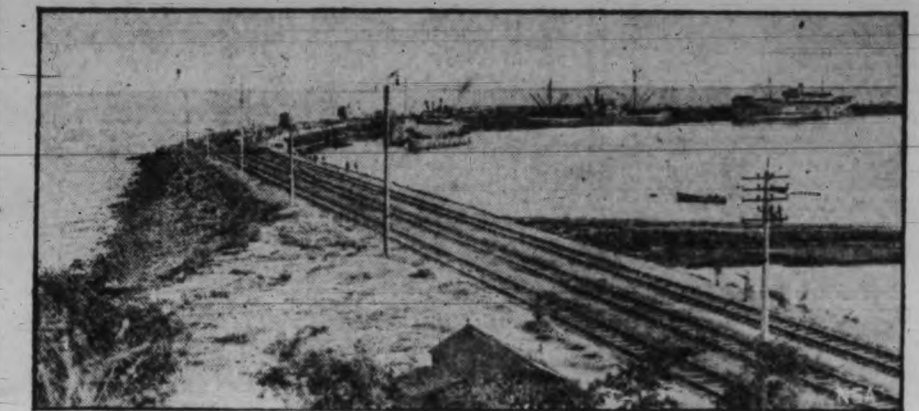

His investigation revealed that his two best suits of woolen underwear had disappeared. Other clothing in a state of disrepair had not been touched.

He is now wondering whether the thief needed the underwear more than he did.

To-night the club will occupy seats in row thirteen during the feather-weight championship bout between Freddy Miller and Tommy Paul, and will be escorted by usher number thirty.

The next holiday will fall on Friday, October 13.

Seeks Ring On "Thirteenth"

Anxious Young Man Waits Outcome of Search in Cleaning Vats for Solitaire He Intends Giving To His Sweetheart.

One Victorian went "to the cleaners" to-day and was anxiously waiting to discover if "Friday the Thirteenth" would bring luck or misfortune.

Yesterday he sent a suit to the cleaners. Shortly after it left he remembered he had let a diamond solitaire engagement ring in one of the suit pockets.

He rushed to the cleaning establishment and to accommodate him the suit was removed from the cleaning vat. But the vest did not contain the ring.

Operators of the place promised they would look for the ring when the vat is drained to-day.

It is said a certain young woman is as interested in the result of the search as the young man.

Three-cornered Reeveship Contests in Saanich and Esquimalt Hold Interest

Large Vote Anticipated in Saanich; Polling Stations Are Announced

To-morrow will be polling day in the municipalities of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt. In Saanich a large vote is expected if the weather is favorable. In Esquimalt the competition of three candidates for the reeveship is expected to result in a larger civilian vote than usual; but the number of military votes included in the list is considerably below the average registration. Oak Bay has only a contest for school trustees, and a small vote is anticipated.

In all three municipalities the polls will open at 8 o'clock in the morning and will remain open until 8 o'clock in the evening.

In Oak Bay the polling will take place at the Municipal Hall, with R. F. Blandy as returning officer.

Esquimalt voters will vote at two polling stations, one in the Municipal Hall and the other at the corner of Arm Street and O'Connell Road. J. R. Collier is returning officer.

The Saanich voting will take place at seven ward-polls, located as follows: Ward One, Cedar Hill School; Ward Two, Tolmie School; Ward Three, Gordon Head School; Ward Four, Marigold Hall; Ward Five, Royal Oak School; Ward Six, Keating Temperance Hall; Ward Seven, Tillicum School.

Chief Justice Morrison Makes Order in Supreme Court Clearing Way For B.C. Government to Appoint Administrator For City

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 13.—An order authorizing the British Columbia Government to appoint a commissioner for the City of North Vancouver was granted in the B.C. Supreme Court here to-day by Chief Justice Morrison.

The order was not opposed. Duval Donaghy, K.C., who appeared for the city of North Vancouver, stated he could not consent to the order, but did not oppose it.

The city of North Vancouver, on the north shore of Burrard Inlet, has a population of 8,400.

North Vancouver is the largest municipality for which a commissioner has been named or authorized as yet.

The annual civic election was held yesterday.

Commissioners have been appointed for two other centres in British Columbia following default of bond interest. They are the municipality of the District of North Vancouver and the Municipality of Burnaby.

The order was made to-day on petition of Arthur Frederick Tero, North Vancouver, suing as a ratepayer. The application was based on default of interest coupons of $332, but this was changed after the city had paid the interest together with costs last Thursday to further coupons, aggregating $842, which were not paid on presentation.

A previous petition, made by G. Lyall Fraser, acting on behalf of the British Columbia Bond Dealers' Association, was dismissed a week ago by Mr. Justice A. I. Fisher on the ground the $30 interest coupon, on which proceedings were based, had been paid before the case was heard in court.

A proposal is being mooted that Charles E. Tisdall, whom the government appointed commissioner for the District of North Vancouver, should be commissioner for the city also.

BLAMES CITY FOR RENT DELAY

Landlords Made to Suffer, Lawyer Tells Court in New Eviction Case

Cheque Dated Back Two Weeks For Part Rent Two Months Overdue

Landlords are being made to suffer by the action of the relief administration in holding back or ante-dating rent cheques, according to F. C. Elliott, counsel for William McGregor, landlord of a Hillside Avenue house, who presented his case before Judge Lampman in court to-day.

The evictee was in court, but Mr. Elliott told the judge this man was not the one to blame.

"This man rented the McGregor house in October, with the rent payable in advance," said Mr. Elliott. "He paid 70 cents and the city has to pay the remaining $9.30 for October on or before November 1. But nothing was paid by the city. Then on November 25, this man paid 70 cents for his succeeding month's rent."

"On December 24 we got a cheque from the city for the first $9.30, two months behind time. Yesterday on the eve of this action, we received another cheque from the city for $9.30. This was on January 12, but the cheque had been dated back to December 31."

Mr. Elliott presented the cheque as evidence to the judge and explained the house was furnished and the city could expect the landlord to bear a two months' time-lag on the part of the city in paying up.

Asked about the case, the man told the court he could not get another house until he could give landlords assurance the rent would be paid up by the relief administration.

The judge issued the order for eviction to be carried out on January 27. He said this would give the landlord three days to get a new tenant in to start with the first of the next month.

NO COALITION IN SOUTH AFRICA

Capetown, South Africa, Jan. 13.—Negotiations which Timman Roos and General Jan Christian Smuts have been carrying on for the last three weeks to form a coalition party were reported to have failed to-day.

Mr. Roos, opposing Premier Hertzog, has been attempting to secure the support of the South African Party headed by the veteran statesman General Smuts.

It was anticipated Mr. Roos, having failed in his endeavor to come to terms with General Smuts, would institute a new party and ask the country for funds to support his organization.

THREE BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $3,500 LOOT AFTER BATTLE WITH BANK STAFF

NEW BLOCK ON GAS MEASURE

Dealers Say Early Closing By-law May Be Held Unenforceable

Establishment of Municipal Station For Night Service Mooted

With the early closing regulation for service stations listed for final passage to-day, the threatened move by a faction of gasoline dealers to upset the measure began to take shape, and at the same time in civic circles consideration was given to a plan by which the city would go into the gasoline business and settle the dispute.

The move to upset the by-law drafted and given initial approval by the council comes from the dealers who originally sponsored the legislation. They are not satisfied with the emergency service provisions of the measure, and in a letter forwarded to the council to-day point out that the by-law may be held unenforceable.

They claim this is so by reason of the fact that no dealer in gas can be compelled under the measure to close his shop at any time for the sale of gasoline.

QUESTION FOR COURT
"Our submission is, that the by-law is drawn providing no penalty for anyone keeping his station open for the sale to any person having less than three gallons, and in effect avoiding the Shops Regulations Act, and when an attempt is made to enforce the by-law there is no doubt this contention will be raised as a defence, and the court will be called upon to say whether such by-law complies with the act, and if not to declare it of no effect," they state.

These dealers have drawn up a zone plan which they claim will meet the situation adequately. It would provide for half the stations staying open after 8 o'clock for one week and half the next.

This plan was discarded by the council on advice of its solicitors. One of the main objections is the fact that it would mean discrimination against dealers who have built up an all-night business, and would be forced, by legislation, to share it with other operators.

Possibility that the latest moves will forestall final passage of the measure to-day dropped up this morning when the letter from the dealers arrived.

Under statute, however, the by-law in some form or other must be passed by January 19 so that action is imperative within a week.

CIVIL SALE PLAN
As a solution to the whole problem the advisability of the city applying to the Legislature for permission to enter the gasoline business on its own was considered. In support of this plan legislation passed in 1918 giving the city power to deal in certain commodities such as fish, milk, fuel and fuel oil, was cited. If power could be obtained from the Legislature the city could operate a central station from 8 p.m. to 7 a.m., while all other dealers were compelled to close.

LIBERAL CHIEF SCORES SILENCE

No Reason Why Notice of B.C. Session Should Not Be Given, He Says

Government Has No Right to Deal With Major Matters, Pattullo Claims

Failure of Premier Tolmie to make a formal announcement of the date the last session of the British Columbia Legislature will open prompted stinging comment from T. D. Pattullo, Liberal Leader, this morning.

"Just before Christmas I called upon the Premier, and he advised me that he proposed to give thirty days' notice of the holding of the session," said Mr. Pattullo. "A day or two ago, no notice having been published, I called upon the Premier to ascertain when he proposed to hold the session. There is nothing in the constitution to compel thirty days' notice, and, in any event, there is no reason why notice should not already have been given."

"Press dispatches indicated that Alberta is calling a session for February 9."

"I take the ground that our own self-acknowledged incapacity and inadequate government has no right to undertake any measures of major character."

"The truth is that this decrepit and palsied administration is hanging on in desperation, hoping that something may transpire that will save it from burial under an avalanche of public sentiment."

MAJOR GIVES DETAILS
At the opening of this forenoon's session, Attorney-General Major began an enumeration of Judge Stubbs' actions and statements from the bench which the witness claimed tended to undermine administration of justice. He dealt with the charge against the judge involving "unwarranted criticism of law enforcement officers in judgment of the accused from the bench."

In one case Mr. Major quoted the judge as having said, "I am not going to take the word of these people" (referring to police witnesses). In another case the judge was quoted as having said that if the police "have not enough comity to mind their own business," they would get an answer from him—"I am suspicious of police evidence."

In this last case the judge was said to have quoted from "Taylor on Evidence." Police declared it was an American work. "I do not care if it is an Egyptian work," Judge Stubbs was reported to have said. He declared it was the authority on evidence.

"The (police) are out to get them (the accused) and never let them go," the judge was reported to have said in another case. "They color and paint things worse than they need be."

BIG THEFT
Judge Stubbs was said by Mr. Major to have declared to a prisoner in another case: "To get away with crime you have got to be a big thief—steal a million or so."

In still another case he was reported to have declared: "The evidence satisfies me police used force for punitive purposes."

In the case of the King against Barber, Mr. Major said Judge Stubbs had declared the action of police had been arbitrary and officious. "When such things are done, something is very radically wrong with the temper of the police force," he quoted Judge Stubbs as having said.

Mr. Major added that in this case, one of riot, police had suffered, one of them a broken leg and the other a broken wrist and finger.

WINNIPEG POLICE
The Attorney-General assured the court he considered it his duty to deny the charge of criticism of police. His close association with the Winnipeg police had convinced him they were a well officered force, which "never resorted to violence."

He continued to read observations made by the judge—his summing up various cases. Once where he acquitted four men on charges of unlawful assembly in connection with a strikers' demonstration, the judge, the witness said, gave the benefit of doubt to the accused in regard to reasons for carrying clubs and missiles. Police claimed they had been so equipped for offensive purposes, but the defendants pleaded they had been attacked by police previously and this time had come prepared to defend themselves.

Mr. Major also read lengthy comments by the judge on sufferings of the "down-trodden" and his criticism of the "barbarous and unscientific penal system."

PROPORTIONATE SENTENCES
Excerpts also were quoted by the witness from the judgment in the Rae case, in which a bookkeeper was charged with theft of his firm's funds. In discharging the prisoner for lack of evidence, the judge had said:

"On the basis of the Martin case, and the judgment of the Court of Appeal, if I was to find this man guilty and sentence him, what would be a proportionate sentence? The Court of Appeal has held a term of eighteen months is a proper sentence for a term of $284,177.18. I am, however, going to take him for better or for worse. If she talks too much."

INTRUSIVE STATEMENT
"Lying is lying," Judge Stubbs told a prisoner on one occasion, Mr. Major said. "Whether done by the Attorney-General or by one like yourself, in an attempt to slide me off the bench, I am quoted the judge as having remarked in another case."

It will take some sliding before they do it."

"Attempts are being made to break me by men who have obtained nothing less than the government of this province by nothing less than fraud," Judge Stubbs said.

SCHOOLS AND TWO LAWS
Mr. Major said Judge Stubbs on one occasion had declared the school board was making criminals by closing the schools.

On another occasion he quoted the judge as saying: "The age-long grievance that there is one law for the rich and another for the poor has been strikingly illustrated throughout Canada in the last few weeks."

OPPOSE PAYING EXCHANGE SUMS

Canadian Press. Calgary, Jan. 13.—While Mayor Andy Davison and Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta went into conference in Edmonton to-day in Calgary's financial plight, the Calgary local of the United Farmers of Alberta called for the Alberta Government to follow Calgary's footsteps and refuse to pay adverse United States exchange in meeting bond obligations.

The farm group local, a unit of the organization that swept Premier Brownlee's administration into power, previously had endorsed Calgary's stand on the exchange question. Yesterday evening it urged the Alberta Government to take similar action.

Question will go before the U.F.A. board of directors meeting here to-day and may find its way into the annual convention which will open January 17.

Bullets Fly in Vancouver Hold-up

START OF FIRING
Before they had passed to the front of the bank, Mr. Coombe, who had his automatic in his hip pocket, started firing.

One handst opened fire at the three men huddled in the vestibule. Mr. Coombe emerged and dodged behind the counter, while Mr. Barnum made a dash for a nearby drawer and secured a gun.

Mr. Coombe was struck in the abdomen and he slumped to the floor as the bandits dashed for the door, followed by Mr. Barnum firing as he ran.

Mr. Harrison also secured a gun and joined Barnum in the chase as the robbers fled to the door. As the hold-up men dashed into the lane and into the waiting car, Mr. Brown entered into the fight.

Mr. Coombe had a remarkable escape in the bank. The bandits fired six shots at close range at him. Mr. Harrison had no recollection of being grazed by a bullet until the police arrived and he told his story.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED
The thugs used a car stolen from J. E. Ridings. The machine was picked up within half an hour after the holdup at Thirteenth Avenue and Collingwood Street.

On Thursday was about five feet six inches in height, was dark complexioned, wore black glasses and a black bowler hat and was about thirty-five years old. The other was slightly shorter and appeared to be about twenty-six years old. He was light complexioned with sandy hair and wore a soft fedora hat.

Capetown, South Africa, Jan. 13.—Negotiations between the Nationalist Party, the South African Party and the United Party, which began last Saturday, are expected to reach a decision in the next few days. The Nationalist Party, which is the largest of the three, is expected to lead the coalition.

Mr. Roos, a former member of the Nationalist Party, said that the coalition was a necessary step towards the formation of a government. He said that the coalition was a necessary step towards the formation of a government.

Rejection of the South African offer, it was said, would bring a definite end to the negotiations.

The House of Assembly will meet January 20, when Mr. Roos expects to have enough strength to vote the government out of office.

AID IS GIVEN SINGLE NEEDY

Vancouver, Jan. 13.—Responsibility for maintenance of approximately 800 single unemployed who have homes in Vancouver has been disavowed by Dominion authorities, and pending negotiations, the province has agreed to make an allowance for these persons. Civic authorities conferred yesterday with Hon. R. W. Brunson on the problem, and he agreed to a provincial allowance of 20 cents daily for such cases, which represents the food quota for single men.

The 800 are persons over twenty-one whose families are on relief. The province, last December, instructed the city these should be classed as single cases. When the Dominion assumed full responsibility for single unemployed, the city handed over these cases too. On Wednesday, the Dominion instructed the government's relief commission it was not responsible for these people. A conference with provincial authorities was held yesterday, and as a result the province will assume responsibility pending negotiations with Ottawa.

Saanich Farmers Fear Tax Increase

Many Questions Asked at Meetings at Keating and Royal Oak Yesterday

Trustees Must Find $20,000
Stopped By Province, Reeve
Crouch Warns

The official election campaign in Saanich closed yesterday evening with two meetings in the rural northern wards. At Royal Oak Hall, Clarence H. Oldfield presided over a gathering of fifty Ward Five residents, the speakers exchanging with campaigners from Keating Temperance Hall in Ward Six, where H. E. Tanner was elected chairman by an audience which nearly filled the hall. Although both meetings were generous with their applause, the candidates were closely questioned, especially in regard to school costs and the recent blanket reduction in assessments. The general trend of the inquiries indicated widespread fears that owners of farm land would have to pay for increased urban lots coupled with the conviction that the re-assessment policy had deprived farmers of benefits intended by Judge Lammiman's decision in "two assessment appeals heard last year."

Reeve Crouch prefaced his usual report with replies to a number of questions voiced at the meetings. He said no practical merit in allowing residents to work out their overdue water bills, as the concession would have to be extended to property owners in peril of losing their property for taxes. Such a policy would seriously affect the municipality's tax revenue.

The financial statement issued at meetings had been criticized because not signed by the auditors. Reeve Crouch explained that a continuous audit was maintained, the statement had been taken from the books by municipal officials and he was satisfied the deficit was correctly stated at $43,000.

It had been suggested that borrowing $75,000 at a cost of $4,863 was bad business, but such a procedure had not been undertaken by Saanich. The bank loan was really $200,000, but had only been used as needed. The accommodation had been required because salaries, wages, school expenses and other charges had to be met for ten months ahead of the big influx of taxes.

Reeve Crouch reviewed the affairs of the municipality on lines adopted at earlier meetings of the campaign. Police, fire protection, street lights, library service, waterworks, public health and social services were touched upon. In regard to school costs he reiterated a warning that, because half of every tax dollar was devoted to schools, the impending reduction of $20,000 in government grants for salaries would have to be made up by the school trustees.

Relief was a costly problem, over 1,000 people in the population of 13,000 being in receipt of allowances. The reeve could see no way of increasing the assistance given unless the provincial and federal governments paid larger sums. He said that Saanich was doing very well by its distressed residents.

PREMIER KIND TO SAANICH

Telling of an interview with Premier Toimie in regard to impending evictions, Reeve Crouch said that the kindly attitude evinced by Dr. Toimie towards Saanich. He was always accessible and in this matter had indicated that the province would be made into cases of distress involving evictions. The lower assessment would require a levy of forty-one mills to raise the $20,000 deficit. Reeve Crouch was confident that little extra money would be levied this year, asserting that in hard times he added burden should be placed on the taxpayers. The $12,000 increase in the deficit was little more than the $10,000 shortage in tax income, despite the burden of unemployment on the government's policy of transferring to municipalities of a large part of the cost of social services.

After touching in scornful vein upon suggestions that Saanich was ripe for a reversion, Reeve Crouch briefly appealed for re-election on a policy of "carry on as usual."

Mr. Crouch asked how much of the $13,000 surplus water accounts would be "unrecoverable" and was told that around $4,000 would possibly have to be wiped off. There was a waterworks sinking fund surplus of more than $13,000 which might be drawn upon, but there was little chance that tax revenues would be required to cover the loss.

Unemployment relief would be a problem for a long time and the candidate considered some plan of work should replace the present system.

In these times we must get 100 cents on the dollar for what you pay out. The men themselves would rather do some real work for their $2.80 a day," he said, warning that continuance of the present system would eventually lead any municipality to bankruptcy and a receiver.

TRAINED TO WORK

Touching upon his wide experience in management of large affairs, Mr. French said he was well qualified to serve the people of Saanich. He had been brought up, as had the pioneers of Saanich, to avoid grousing in times of trouble, to take off his coat and get busy to better affairs. That policy would bring Saanich through its difficulties.

Mr. French congratulated Ward Six re-electing Councillor Hagan by acclamation and said he looked for 100 per cent vote in the ward, saying "you will get a better deal with me as reeve than you will otherwise." He considered the time had come for a change and concluded with assurances that he had no political aspirations and would give his whole time to the reeve's duties if elected.

Mrs. H. Lawrie asked why men on relief suffered deductions if they found work elsewhere but Mr. French was unable to explain. Police Commissioner Goudard quoted Reeve Crouch as stating that relief men were allowed to earn extra money.

JOHN REID

John Reid, reevehip candidate, presented a programme which included recall of elected officers, a special income tax for relief costs, cancellation of water bill owed by unemployed, who should also receive free water. All direct relief should be paid in cash and all municipal work should be performed by regular employees.

"You get no efficiency by the present system," the man among the trees until the trucks arrive to carry them home," Mr. Reid was saying when a voice from the audience asserted, "Men on relief around here work all right."

The candidate considered salaries paid some municipal employees too high. Mr. Kersey asked whether he would class farmers growing fruit as unemployed. Mr. Reid replied: "The farmers cannot sell their fruit, yes, I guess you are unemployed all right."

Mr. Reid was asked what he would like to establish as a relief scale and a provincial statute established $3.20 as a minimum wage. To finance there were forty-seven millionaires living in the Esplanade or on the Esplanade. If an income tax was imposed on them, they would never know they had been keeping the workers from starving, even though they had to pay for several years.

COUNCILLOR HAGAN

Councillor Hagan thanked the ratepayers of Ward Six for according him a tenth year of office by acclamation. He said the current depression had been a relief to the rural wards being tied to urban areas which were absorbing the funds provided by the taxes paid by the farmers.

He is told "prosperity is just around the corner," I think that building must be a round one," he said. "One of our big burdens to-day is 'too much government.'" Councillor Hagan asserted, recalling he had consistently voted against pensioning unemployed for which Saanich had to pay $3,000 each year to the superannuation fund. One mill in the inner ward means fifty cents added to the householders' taxes, here in Ward Six it means anywhere from $5 to $10," he said, denouncing the recent blanket reduction in assessments on all land, acreage and also on improvements. "I want so far as to refuse to sign the assessment roll," he recalled.

PLUNKETT SEES NEW PROSPERITY

Bennett Trade Treaties Have Already Had Beneficial Effect He Claims

Premier Bennett's Anglo-Canadian trade treaties and preferences have already brought a new prosperity to this country, showing results even in the short time since their ratification, D. B. Plunkett, M.P., for Victoria, claimed in his address yesterday evening at the reception in his honor under the auspices of the Women's Conservative Association and of Ward Two Conservatives.

"British Columbia is already feeling the effect of this improved trade opportunity, with record tonnages handled at New Westminster, and with grain and other commodities at Vancouver," Mr. Plunkett said.

"Tariff revision has stopped foreign dumping and has restored a favorable trade balance of $50,000,000, the first in some years, with conditions daily improving. Exports to the United Kingdom since July have totaled over $100,000,000 in five months, compared with $80,000,000 for the same period a year ago. This is exclusive of exports of $110,000,000 to other British countries."

AGAINST INFLATION
Talk of inflation in Canada, going off the gold standard and easy money proposals were criticized by Mr. Plunkett as unsound and resulting in more suffering and trouble than they set out to evade.

Senator G. H. Barnard said that as long as Conservatives were in power the country would have the advantage of the services of good men, while if the Liberals got in the country would have no such men. The senator praised the C.P.R. and criticized the Canadian National and its former president, but could not think of his name. Finally, he asked the chairman, who replied, "Sir Henry Thornton."

Mrs. M. J. Roberts, chairman of the meeting, introduced Senator Barnard as the grand old warhorse of the party.

R. A. Wootton, past president of the Victoria Conservative Association, praised Mr. Plunkett for his work at Ottawa.

Mrs. C. C. Warn, Miss Violet Parmiter, Mrs. Kate Palmer and Sidney Chivall provided the musical programme, which was followed by a social hour. The committees for the affair were under Mrs. Roberts and T. Heaslip.

ARMAMENT TRUST AND ITS BIG BUSINESS

More than ten years ago a special Commission of the League of Nations, which was appointed to inquire into the private manufacture of arms and which consisted of military experts and civilians from all over the world, submitted a report which contained the following findings:

1. That armament firms have been active fomenting war scares, and in persuading their own countries to adopt warlike policies and to increase their armament.
2. That armament firms have attempted to bribe government officials both at home and abroad.
3. That armament firms have disseminated false reports concerning the military and naval programmes of various countries in order to stimulate armament expenditure.
4. That armament firms have sought to influence public opinion through the control of newspapers in their own and foreign countries.
5. That armament firms have organized international armament rings, through which the armament race has been accelerated by playing off one country against another.
6. That armament firms have organized international armament trusts that have increased the price of armaments to the governments.

This report emerges into the limelight in relation to President Hoover's proposal that an embargo be imposed upon the export of munitions to warring countries. That proposal, in fact, strikes at the very heart of the business of war, for if the principal producers of armaments were unable to ship their product to nations in conflict with one another, the cause of arbitration would be advanced fifty years. It is understood that this proposal has the endorsement of President-elect Roosevelt, so we may expect to hear more of it before long. Meanwhile, the big armament interests—who are nothing but an international trust—are making hay while the sun shines. France, which is a close second to Great Britain in the arms export business, has just closed an order for some eight million dollars worth of military supplies to Japan, while United States firms, which come third in this dubious procession, are selling war materials to China.

In fact, while the statesmen of the major powers have been pow-wowing ineffectively at Geneva on the subject of disarmament, their armament firms have been exploiting the situation in the Far East to the limit. Their annual balance sheets are among the few statements to show increased profits in these days and they represent one of the most formidable agencies against peace which exist at this time. "Bigger and better wars" is their slogan, and in view of the well-known fact that their many thousands of stockholders include cabinet ministers, members of parliaments, congresses, and influential persons in other callings, it is not hard to understand why disarmament conferences at Geneva are merely hypocritical gestures which have no practical, effective, result.

We may be quite sure that a tremendous lobby against the Hoover proposal of an embargo on the export of arms to warring countries already has begun at Washington, and that it will have the ardent support of powerful elements in London and Paris, which control the chief armament factories of Europe without regard to national divisions. Even during the great war, while millions of the flower of the manhood of most of the big nations were being slaughtered on the field of battle, stockholders in the armament industries in the major belligerent countries were drawing dividends without regard to international boundary lines. But whatever Europe may do or think about the question, if this continent agreed upon a policy of withholding munitions of war and financial aid from nations which contemplated, or were engaged in, war, there would be no conflict, because in many ways it is impossible to obtain these essentials in sufficient quantities anywhere else.

STERN FACTS CAN NOT BE ARGUED AWAY

Since 1929 the trade of the world has declined in terms of value in gold money by sixty per cent. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is not especially dismayed by this fact because he sees a great deal of difference between value and volume, and argues that the change in volume, as distinct from value, is only between fifteen and twenty per cent; that "quantities traded have not declined so much after all."

Toronto Saturday Night, alluding to the statement of Mr. J. A. McLeod, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, in which he mentioned the figure of sixty per cent in money value as the amount of the decline, thinks Mr. Stevens is rather weak on mathematics—although "strong on cheer"—when he compares value and volume. The Toronto weekly observes:

"The figures quoted by Mr. Stevens do not justify any such optimistic conclusion. The exact increase in the purchasing power of the gold coin is difficult to estimate; because it varies in different countries; the smallest amount of price decline for the three years is shown by France with 37 per cent, and the largest by the Netherlands with 46 per cent, and the United States indexes all show something near 40 per cent. The French and American price levels are probably slightly sustained by high tariffs, and the outside limits of the real decline may be put at 40 and 45 per cent respectively. This means that the purchasing power of a given weight of gold has risen during the three years by less than 66.7 per cent, and not more than 81.8 per cent.

"Applying these figures to the McLeod ratio of the gold value of international trade at the two dates, which is 100 to 40, we find that the ratio of volume of international trade is at one extreme 100 to 40 times 1.667 and at the other extreme 100 to 40 times 1.818, or in plain figures 100 to 66.7 or 100 to 72.7 as the case may be. The falling-off in the physical volume of international trade, in other words, is at the highest computation a full third, and at the lowest computation 27.3 per cent or a good deal over a quarter. It takes a very optimistic Minister of Finance to say of these figures that 'quantities traded have not declined so much after all.' Mr. Stevens' error, or that of his statistician, is in supposing that a decline of 45 per cent in price and one of 15 per cent in volume add up to a total of 60 per cent; they don't add, they multiply."

It is natural the Minister of Trade and Commerce would like to be able to satisfy the people of Canada that the decline in trade is not very serious after all. But it can not be done by academic discussion. Every city, town and hamlet in Canada has its own economic problem, and our trade statistics merely serve to remind the Canadian people that this Dominion, like all other countries, is now paying the price of economic nationalism which is being exacted because governments have tried to beat fundamental laws.

QUALITY AND CONTINUITY OF SUPPLY NECESSARY

It should not now be necessary to emphasize the fact that if Canadian producers of primary products, particularly dairy products, are to regain and hold a good share of the business offering in the United Kingdom, there must be assured continuity of supply and quality equal to or better than that of other exporters to that market. The government of Quebec some time ago appointed a commission to survey the dairy industry of the province and to make suggestions by which it might be improved and stabilized. Among the recommendations contained in the report just presented are the following:

- 1.—Creation of a permanent dairy commission of three members, or the nomination of a dairy commissioner.
- 2.—Uniformity as to hygiene measures to be adopted after a conference between a representative of the Provincial Bureau of Health, of representatives of the health services of Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers and Sherbrooke, representatives of the rural county health units who are interested, and a representative of the Minister of Agriculture.
- 3.—Formation of milk producers' association.
- 4.—Requirement that the milk distributing companies be obliged to furnish to their suppliers a statement showing the quantity of milk received, the percentage of butter fat and the destination of such milk.
- 5.—Reduction in the number of butter and cheese factories in the province.
- 6.—Lowering of the degree of acidity in the cream used for butter production.

Canadian bacon and cheese a year or so ago had become very popular in Great Britain. Danish and Dutch producers who for long had been doing a very large business with British importers began to realize that a profitable market was beginning to slip away from them. But the big crop years intervened in Canada and the output of dairy products fell off to the point that our bacon and cheese exports to the United Kingdom dropped to a negligible quantity. This lost ground must now be recaptured—not an easy thing to do—if these products once more are to be sold in anything like substantial volume to Britain.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NEEDS NONE
 The Woodstock Sentinel-Review
 Ottawa Journal is puzzled over a statement by The Globe that the great conference was called to "hurl the bulwarks of empire" against world-wide economic devastation. But why not? "Britannia needs no bulwarks."

BALANCING THE BUDGET
 The Philadelphia Ledger

In another month forty-one State Legislatures will be in session, and in every one of them one topic will have the right of way—taxation. During the current year, the people of the United States have been asked to contribute more than $2,225,000,000 out of their diminished income to meet the expense of State Government. As the year draws to a close it is evident that even that sum has not been enough to meet the outlays ordained by the state tax-spenders. Everywhere there are deficits. And in every state the taxpayers are insisting that, deficits or no deficits, they must be relieved of their unbearable tax burdens.

EVEN AFTER DEATH
 The Toronto Globe

Are there taxpayers in Canada who believe they can evade forever remitting their dues to Ottawa? A very broad hint to income tax evaders is carried in an item published in the current number of The National Revenue Review:

"The theory that taxes may be evaded is regularly upset by the Income Tax Division.
 "On the decease of a person the executors of the estate are required under the Income Tax Act to obtain a clearance certificate from the department before distributing any assets of the estate, otherwise the executors will be personally liable for any unpaid taxes that might have been due by the deceased. Inspectors of income tax, therefore, make a practice of obtaining copies of the inventory of the estate as filed for probate purposes. When the inventory is received it is carefully inspected and checked with the income tax returns filed by the deceased during his or her lifetime."

"Recently two such cases came before an inspector for attention, and it appeared that the deceased, during lifetime, had been in receipt of certain income which had not been previously disclosed. In one case additional revenue of over $2,000 was obtained, and in the other case additional revenue was obtained of over $500."

The tax inspector pursues his search even after death, and discovery of default makes an unpleasant situation for executors and heirs. Income tax payments will soon be due again.

A THOUGHT

 Charity is the scope of all God's commands.—Chrysostom.

Loose Ends

Look what you get for your $15 a month—the need of underwear in our civilization—the folly of marrying in these times—the touching faith of the Technocrats—and the verdict of not guilty.

By H. B. W.

A BARGAIN

A MAINLAND PAPER has calculated with rousing figures that the ordinary taxpayer of British Columbia (a fellow with an income of $2,000, a wife and one child), pays direct taxes to the federal and provincial governments of about $15 a month. It seems to think this is high and wonders how long this imaginary Forgotten Man is going to keep on paying it. The answer, which I hereby convey to all Forgotten Men without charge, is that he is going to keep on paying it for a long time; and not only that—he is going to pay much more before he is finished. But then—and this is what nearly everybody overlooks—just see what the ordinary taxpayer gets in return for his $15 a month. Just look at the blessings which the ungrateful wretch never recognizes when he throws governments out and demands economy. For a mere $15 a month (plus invisible taxation which no one can estimate) he gets police protection, fire protection, education, roads, law and order, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. In fact, for a mere $15 a month he gets civilization. What a bargain!

BESIDES, FOR $15 a month the ordinary citizen enjoys that splendid personal freedom which cost our ancestors not only $15 but all their treasure and their lives. He is as free as the wind, provided he is not under the necessity of earning his living. He can come and go as he pleases, provided he has the bus or railway fare. For $15 a month he can criticize the government of the country as much as he likes—a privilege worth at least half the $15—and every four years he can vote in a new government which will raise it to $16. Supposing we could offer all these inestimable benefits of our civilization to a savage tribe in the heart of Africa, don't you suppose the black fellows would accept the offer with enthusiasm? No doubt they would. The poor creatures are so lacking in barbarism that they wouldn't know any better. On the whole, I contend that your $15 a month to government is the most profitable $15 that you spend. Why anyone should object to paying it I cannot imagine.

UNDERWEAR

A VERY CHARMING and handsome lady called at this newspaper office yesterday to ask the editors to appeal to the public for underwear for the poor of Victoria. Inadvertently I happened to mention to her that the people out of our way had sent large bundles of clothing, all they could collect, to the poor of the Peace River, where the settlers in that land of plenty (in which the P.G.E. is supposed to find its salvation), are shivering with the cold, and their children come to school half-clad and numb. This charming and handsome lady said she sympathized with the Peace River settlers, but her job was to look after the shivering poor of Victoria, many of whom, she assured me, were badly in need of underwear and other clothing. I don't think she could quite forgive us for having sent our old clothes to her good graces (it is always as well to be in the good graces of charming and handsome ladies). I said I would make a little extra appeal for her cause in this column (without much private hope that it would do any good).

BY ALL MEANS give whatever clothing you can spare to the Friendly Help here and to the Peace River settlers. No doubt there is enough superfluous clothing in the wardrobes of Victoria to keep all the poor here and all the settlers there warm this winter. I am not advocating the strenuous measures adopted in the household of the charming and handsome lady, who said she sympathized with the Peace River settlers, but he has only one suit of underwear left and very little to put over it and goes to an important job every day in an expensive sedan, shivering and purple with the cold. I think every husband might be asked two suits of underwear and a few socks and one hat. But that's plenty.

DON'T MARRY

IT IS INTOLERABLE to think that there are people in this country going without clothing this winter. It is particularly intolerable that there should be such a gross official discrimination between one class of needy person and another. If a man is married he and his wife get $17.50 to pay for food, clothing, fuel and rent. If a man is single, he is taken into a government road camp, asked to do no work, and costs the country at the moment over $20 a month. He gets nearly three times as much as a married man. The great lesson of the depression is to avoid marriage and then you will be well clothed; or to be a Doukhobor and have yourself removed to Pier Island where you will be clothed even though you don't want to be. If you commit matrimony you will be warm. If you commit matrimony you can shiver for your folly.

NORMAL TIMES

THE NEW YORK TIMES, with a rare optimism, says the Depression has taught the people of America the foolishness of their pre-depression ways. It has taught them the futility and emptiness of a civilization of gadgets—of life—which depends for its happiness on machines, excitement and outside stimulation. People, says The Times, are coming through the depression with a new sense of values and realities and, when good times return, will not be swept by prosperity into new follies and superficial pleasures.

THIS IS ONE of the worst delusions of these deluded times. The depression may have taught a few people these things, but I can see no evidence to suggest that the lesson had spread far. On the contrary, so far as I can find out, the world's idea of returning to normal is not to return to the normal of pre-war days; not to return to the calm of the Victorian era or the comparative sanity of the pre-war epoch, or even to the fairly hectic days that followed the war. The average North American expects to return to the frantic madness of 1928 and 1929 which he looks upon as a thoroughly normal and satisfactory condition. Technocracy is the theory that he can control it for his own ends, and not allow prosperity to turn his head as it did before. The New York Times and the Technocrats have a touching faith in human nature.

NOT GUILTY

SPEAKING of human nature, I think it is delightful that Premier Tomin intends to consult the machine of the Conservative Party in convention assembled on his union government project, as soon as the Legislature rises. This is a rich study in human nature indeed. Just consider it: The proposal is to abolish patronage and all the just rewards which come to hard-working machines of any successful party. Therefore, whom should we consult on the abolition of patronage and similar evils? Why, of course, we must consult the machine which lives on them. We must ask the machine to vote itself out of business and the machineists to go without oil and nourishment. We put Party Politics in the box, charged with Grand Larceny and High Treason and then we ask him to render a verdict and pass sentence on himself. Even with his absence of bias, even with his devotion to pure justice, I have a feeling that Party Politics, after careful deliberation, will find himself not guilty and will allow himself to go free.

Winnipeg Falcons Win Over Selkirks

Winnipeg, Jan. 13.—The half-way mark in the Manitoba senior hockey division was reached yesterday evening with the Falcons blanking the Selkirks 2 to 0. Conny Joseph managed the rubber in for the first goal in the opening session with Tony Lemay finishing the night's scoring in the third period. The win put the Falcons in second position, three points down on the league-leading Winnipeg.

THANKS

To the Editor:—Mrs. Hermann Robertson, convenor of the Entertainment Committee of the Women's Workroom, has asked me to thank your paper for the splendid publicity given in connection with the Mammoth Bazaar held recently at the Armories, and to say it was the wonderful cooperation and united efforts of all those friends and well-wishers who gave so unparagonably of their time and energy, that made the undertaking the outstanding success it was. A special thanks is extended to all the stall-holders and their assistants.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT

To the Editor:—I should like to know why so much relief money is wasted upon unnecessary work in Saanich for months past, in view of the fact that the condition of Cordova Bay Road and the "new road," through Mount Douglas Park, recently constructed at a great expense to the Saanich ratepayer, is in such a disastrous state of repair that it is dangerous and unsafe for traffic. Prove this statement by taking a walk and counting the number of broken springs and other motor parts. What is needed is competent engineering to construct roads which will stand heavy traffic. Why pay taxes under these conditions?
 WAIRD THREE.

FINANCES OF SAANICH

To the Editor:—Last night at St. Mark's Hall, I dared to ask Reeve Crouch one question, namely, whether or not he thought it good business to pay in 1932 $5,000 in interest to the bank, as that sum at 6 per cent represents a loan of $83,300 for twelve months, and also if it would not have been better to have not reduced taxes in 1929, the amount of which reduction would have taken care of the thousands in yearly deficits which have since accrued?

I answered the first part of my question by saying that while Reeve Crouch had been his custom to borrow as much as $200,000 from the bank in one year, and he considered it good business. The second part of my question he ignored entirely.

I would now like to ask another question. Why is it that whenever Reeve Crouch or his methods are in any way questioned or discussed by a ratepayer that from his manner and statements he acts and talks as if the ratepayer had no right to ask the question?

If Saanich does not stop the constant increase in deficits from year to year, she will undoubtedly find herself by next year where taxes will have to be increased enormously, due to accrued deficits and interest charges, and I feel that the question asked is worthy of most serious thought by every ratepayer in the municipality.

Saanich is also paying interest on bond issues of $500,000 for water-works and $69,000 for schools each year, so that we do owe considerable money.

FINANCES OF SAANICH

To the Editor:—I read with interest a letter by Frank H. Partridge in The Colonist of Friday, January 13. This letter apparently was put in at this date in the hope that I would not have an opportunity of replying. Mr. Partridge apparently implies that I failed or refused to answer questions asked by him. I will admit that I may have failed, but not through my own fault.

When Mr. Partridge rose in St. Mark's Hall to ask me a question, he was absolutely hooted down by the audience. St. Mark's Hall is situated in Mr. Partridge's own ward, and I, therefore, presume that the people have formed their own estimation of him, this estimation possibly being formed on the fact that when he was elected for two years, he resigned before the first year was completed.

As to the financial question raised by Mr. Partridge, it has been the policy of Saanich to collect its taxes during the month of October, and as we have a farming district, I believe this policy to be sound. As we must pay before we obtain our revenues, this necessitates borrowing. Personally, I do not like paying interest, but it is unavoidable, and I believe that it is much better for the municipality to carry the interest burden than it is for individuals to do so.

As to so-called mounting deficits, that, Mr. Editor, is too involved a question to dispose of in a letter to the press, and Mr. Partridge well knows the reason thereof. The Saanich council to maintain the tax rate at the same level for the years 1931 and 1932.

WILLIAM CROUCH, Reeve.

SAANICH POLITICS

To the Editor:—Allow me a small space in your valuable paper to say I regret I will not be able to appear at the ratepayers' meeting at Tillicum School on Friday night. It is impossible for me to attend. I am fully convinced the ratepayers are satisfied with the administration of the 1933 council. It has been a most difficult year, but we have pulled through successfully. The only platform my opponents have is the need of a change. I am leaving the issue in the hands of the ratepayers, who, I feel certain, will do the right thing on Saturday and return the old councillor. I can assure you I will do my utmost to give satisfaction.

COUNCILLOR F. T. ROBERTS,
 175 Sims Avenue, Saanich, B.C., January 12, 1933.

EXCESS FAT RUINING HER HEALTH

Better After Losing 14 Lbs

There are a number of bodily ailments that are apt to arise in overweight men and women, and if excess fat is reduced, in the right way, very often improved health follows—as I did with this woman:—
 "I used to have a great deal of fat that seemed to be nearly stop me breathing, especially when I knelt down to do any housework, or was walking up a hill. I would simply have to fight for my breath for about twenty minutes. But now that I have lost fourteen pounds in weight, and am able to get about in comfort, I can work all day and not feel tired. I feel so much better, and am so pleased to have lost some of the fat that was steadily gaining ground with me, and ruining my general health."—(Miss A. K.)
 There are six vital mineral salts in Kruschen. These salts combat the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue. Unlike ordinary aperients Kruschen does not confine its action to a single part of the system. Its tonic effects extend to every organ, gland, nerve and vein. (Adv.)

BURNS' POEMS ARE UNIVERSAL

John Hosie Tells Authors' Group of Widespread Appeal of Bard's Works

That the appeal of a great poet is universal rather than local was the keynote of the delightful address given by John Hosie before the local branch of the Canadian Authors' Association at Unity Centre yesterday evening. Even as soon as his death in 1884, the world was anxious to render homage to the Scottish poet, who spoke from his heart, using the Scottish dialect to render some of the most exquisite lyrics and love songs ever known. The 1884 celebrations were both spectacular and world-wide in character and included pageants, banquets. The 1889 celebrations were even more colorful in character. At least 872 meetings were held in various parts of the world and in "Auld Reekie" alone some 3,000 persons attended the Total Abstinence Society banquet. Mr. Hosie's address fell naturally into three sections, dealing with Burns' boyhood, his two winters in Edinburgh, and the last eight years of his life at Nithsdale and Dumfries. The speaker showed a most intimate knowledge of both poetry and life of Burns, and regretted that in dealing with the lives of great writers and poets the public were inclined to parade their shortcomings, while the average successful business man's private life is his own. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Hosie received an enthusiastic vote of thanks. In keeping with the Scottish character of the programme, Miss Isabel Crawford, accompanied by Miss Allen, sang "Allan Water" and "My Heart Is Sair," both songs by Burns. Mrs. Myrtle E. Lane gave a short survey of "Market Conditions for 1933," which was optimistic in trend, the literary market showing upgrade tendencies. The president, Donald A. Fraser was in the chair, and Mrs. Marion Isabel Angus was convener.

DAUGHTER FOR NONAGENARIAN PREFERS POKER

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Bridge fans may take it from Grandma Nina Degan that it's a nice game all right, but personally she said on her ninetieth birthday anniversary that she prefers a good game of poker any time.

BULGARIA CELEBRATES BIRTH DAY OF PRINCESS; RELIGION SPECULATION RENEWED

Sofia, Bulgaria, Jan. 13.—All Bulgaria was celebrating the birth of a princess this morning—the first child of King Boris III and Queen Joanna. The mother and baby girl were both reported in excellent health. The princess was welcomed with a shower of affection, reminiscent of the reception accorded Queen Joanna when her royal husband brought her home from Italy two years ago. The mother, a former Italian princess, returned to the capital only yesterday from Varina Palace. Several Bulgarian physicians and one Italian specialist were attending her. The event naturally renewed speculation as to the religion in which any children of Boris and Joanna will be brought up. Special permission of the Pope was necessary before the Italian princess married Boris. The king will be thirty-nine years old January 30. Queen Joanna is twenty-four years old. The government was planning a political amnesty for exiles and the pardoning of hundreds of prisoners in Bulgaria in celebration of the event. The present heir to the Bulgarian throne is King Boris's younger brother, Cyril. Boris succeeded his father, Ferdinand, who abdicated in 1918 and has been living since in the Duchy of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha in Germany. One of the most appealing royal romances of Europe was climaxed by the marriage of Joanna and Boris.

PALM QUEEN

The Young Women's Missionary Society of First United Church held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. W. G. Wilson, 777 Penikese Road, Mrs. A. T. Hunkin, the newly-elected president, opened the meeting and thanked the members for the honor conferred upon her, asking their support for the coming year. The devotional period was conducted by Miss Polson and Mrs. P. B. Coulson. The secretary, Miss Pearl Barlow, submitted a very satisfactory annual report, and announced that the sum of $360 had been forwarded to the presbytery treasurer, Miss McIlvride contributed an item on temperance. Miss Stewart gave a very comprehensive resume of a part of the new study book, "This Dominion of Canada." An interesting discussion on ways and means for raising funds for the coming year was led by Mrs. H. Rive, also the subject of a change of name for this organization was suggested. The Misses In Easton and Robinson rendered a very beautiful duet during the evening. Dr. W. G. Wilson brought a message to the group, stressing the importance of the mission occupied in the thought of the people, which had been brought about partly by the influence of magazines and the press. These agencies seemed recently to have been seized with the significance of this work all over the world. Also, the speaker pointed out, it was felt in the church itself that the best men and finest minds should be enlisted for the foreign field. The appreciation of the members was expressed to Dr. Wilson by Miss Adah Hunt and Mrs. H. Rive for his illuminating address, and also to the hostess of the evening, Mrs. Wilson, for her kindness in entertaining the gathering. Mrs. Firth, newly-elected president of the Young Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was a guest. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Stipe, Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, Mrs. G. M. Miles, Miss Aileen Cullum, Mr. Brian Burdon-Murphy and Mr. Jack Tyrer. In an informal talk, Dr. Carrothers suggested that art was a necessity to the life of the child and should be introduced into the schools. The Little Theatre movement could do much to foster a love of the drama among young people, and the present economic conditions offered splendid opportunities for the encouragement of art to fill leisure hours. He suggested a junior drama festival as a means to this end.

Many Victoria friends joined in the congratulations tendered to Dr. and Mrs. A. Primrose Wells of Duncan on Tuesday, when they celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding. They were married at Trinity Church, Weston-super-Mare, England, January 10, 1883, living first at Brighton, and for four years on the Isle of Man, where Dr. Primrose Wells was surgeon to the Household. Following this they lived at Beckenham, Kent. In 1911 they came out to British Columbia and settled at Creston and after the outbreak of war went back to England, where Dr. Primrose Wells did medical work, while Mrs. Primrose Wells assisted at St. Dunstan's Home for the Blind. After the Armistice they returned to Victoria, moving to Duncan in 1920. There were six children, three sons and three daughters. Two sons are living in England, and one was killed in the war. The three daughters are Mrs. A. B. U. Robson, living in North Vancouver; Mrs. L. F. Solly, Westholme, and Miss Primrose Wells, living at home. There are eight grandchildren.

Be Sensible about the FLU

With every epidemic of influenza comes an epidemic of advice. But if you have the flu—or you even suspect its presence—there's just one thing to do: Call a doctor immediately. There are, however, some simple, sensible precautions that everyone should take at this time. Try to keep in good physical condition. Guard against colds or sore throats by avoiding contact with all coughed and sneezed. The germs of disease will often fasten upon the man or woman whose vitality has been lowered by a severe cold. Be sure to use the genuine Aspirin tablets; they are of proven efficacy. Above all, don't delay calling your doctor if you have reason to suspect that you have caught the flu.

Ridewood representing the management board of St. Joseph's Hospital. The active pallbearers were: Alex. McDermott, John Hart, H. O. Hartnell and George E. Hartnell, representing the Knights of Columbus, and E. G. Morry and J. Davis.

The procession into the chapel was led by the crossbearer, altar boys and clergy, then the bishop, followed by the deacons and honorary pallbearers, after which came six pupils of St. Ann and six uniformed nurses from St. Joseph's Hospital, forming a guard of honor for the remains. Hughes, representing the family of the late Hon. J. S. Hemmick, pioneer surgeon with whom the late Mother Mary Bridget was associated in the early days of St. Joseph's Hospital.

News of Clubwomen

A.Y.P.A. Dramatic Evening—Christ Church Cathedral Anglican Young People's Association heard a very interesting talk by H. C. Hallwright on "Culture," commencing with the old Grecian idea to the modern view "unconscious self-discipline." The branch was glad to welcome back an old member, Ivan Randall, who is making a short stay in Victoria.

Jack Aylwin, president of the Victoria Local Council, spoke to the branch on the conference to be held here on February 4 and 5, and the part that local members should take. "It is up to each member," said Mr. Aylwin, "who considers himself a good A.Y.P.A. member to attend the conference." Final arrangements for the dramatic evening to be held in the Memorial Hall on Friday at 8 o'clock were made. Next week the meeting will adjourn early so that the members can attend the "at home" at St. Mary's Hall.

NEEDING HELPAnnual Report of Workshop Shows Fund's Depleted
After Hard Year

"For nearly twelve years now we have maintained this shop, but the year 1932 has been the most difficult since the early days of our existence. It is a story of decreased sale, less wages and a greater average loss per man. This, despite many reductions in operating costs. Still, compared with other similar shops, our rating remains very high. We are the oldest shop in Canada, and are the only remaining Red Cross Shop. We employ more men per capita. We have heavily carried on under adverse business conditions and have been of considerable assistance in providing employment to disabled ex-service men, besides giving to the public good workmanship at reasonable charges."

This extract from the report of Major S. H. O'Neil, the manager, presented at the annual meeting of the Red Cross Workshop yesterday afternoon reveals the courageous way in which the work of every encouragement for the general public. Bishop Schuchman presided at the meeting. In the absence of the chairman, F. W. Jones, other members of the committee present being Mrs. Harold Fleming, G. H. Dawson and W. L. Morkin.

"During the year we have disbursed in Victoria about $33,000, an industry of no mean proportions, and one worthy of every encouragement for the general commercial good of the city, over and above the fact that we are caring for disabled soldiers—the report of the manager continued. "Men who have lost health and limbs for their country merely ask a chance to earn a living. We supply the shop, the organization; the public must supply the work. Estimates are given without charge or obligation and we appeal to all who are able, and there are many able in Victoria, to put as much work our way as possible and so enable us to keep our shop going. If only on a restricted basis."

MANY LINES OF WORK
After noting that the majority of the shop were fast becoming expert, Major O'Neil reviewed the lines of activity: cabinet-making, carpentering, furniture repairing, and general repairs and alterations. Men will be sent out for light carpentering. The carpenter shop had been the heaviest sufferer from unemployment, several men having to be laid off. In addition metal work, basket and wicker work, painting, polishing and picture framing were being done. The workshop made all the puppets and wreaths for the whole of British Columbia on Remembrance Day, the output having increased from 65,000 puppets and 200 wreaths made in 1927 to 153,000 puppets and 1,015 wreaths last year.

GOOD DONE INESTIMABLE
An analysis of the progress made since 1922 showed that while in that year the total wages paid to disabled soldiers was $14,832.71, the total paid last year was $23,346.07. The total sales in 1932 was $12,047.61, as against $22,586.85 during 1931. The average monthly loss per man in 1932 was $44.06, as against $37.33 in 1931. These figures were computed on a straight commercial basis, "but the good done cannot be computed in dollars and cents," stated the report.

At December 31, 1932, there were thirty-six men on the roll of the shop. Two men left during the year while Cockidge was taken on. Since the shop started in April, 1931, there have been thirty-three men employed. Of these twenty-nine have left to take up work outside the shop, while twenty-three have left owing to severe disability and other reasons, while there are still thirty-six in the shop.

COOLIDGE WILL
OF FEW WORDSEx-President Leaves All to His Wife in Brief Document

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 13 (Associated Press).—The will of Calvin Coolidge, leaving all his property to the widow, was filed in the Hampshire County Probate Court yesterday. It consisted of but twenty-three words in Coolidge's own handwriting. It reads in part:

"Not unkindly of my son, John, I give all my estate both real and personal to my wife, Grace Coolidge, in fee simple. (Signed) Calvin Coolidge."

SON GETS TRUST FUND
John Coolidge, the son, had previously been provided for by a trust fund, variously estimated at between $50,000 and $100,000.

Estimates of the value of the estate of the late President have run from $250,000 to $500,000. The exact amount probably never will be known, as an inventory was filed pending or required, and if it is filed it may be worked without giving the entire amount.

EMMANUEL W.A.
ELECT OFFICERS

Emmanuel Baptist Church Women's Auxiliary held its monthly meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. V. Taylor, Belmont Avenue. Very gratifying were the annual reports read by the secretary, Mrs. Taylor, and the treasurer, Miss Street. Mrs. W. Woodland, president, and the members of the executive were warmly thanked for their splendid services through the past year.

Election of officers was an item of business during the evening and the following ladies were chosen to carry on the work of the society for the ensuing year: Mrs. R. Boyer, president; Mrs. V. Taylor, vice-president; Mrs. G. Anley, secretary; Miss A. L. Stiles, treasurer. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Anna Daniels.

POPULAR ROYALTY

The luxurious coat which Princess Sibylla is wearing is one of the gifts from her royal husband, Prince Gustaf Adolf, heir presumptive to the Swedish throne. The couple are shown together in Stockholm, where the Princess's beauty has made her a great favorite. Prince Gustaf Adolf is in the uniform of the Swedish Guards.

AIMEE AGAIN
SERIOUSLY ILL

Los Angeles, Jan. 13.—Stricken by another of a long series of illnesses, Aimee Semple McPherson—Hutton, Canadian-born evangelist, was reported by her physician, Dr. L. C. Audrian, to be in a serious condition yesterday.

"Mrs. Hutton's condition is frankly serious," said Dr. Audrian. "She is in a state of coma. I do not choose, however, to discuss the nature of her ailment."

At various times in the last sixteen months doctors have attributed her illness to nervous disorders.

Servants at her Angelus Temple have been marked by attempts of her aides to raise several thousand dollars by subscription to "send sister away on a vacation tour before it is too late." It was announced more than $2,000 was obtained last night.

CHAIRS NEEDED FOR WORKROOM

The numbers employed in the Women's Workroom having increased since it was first opened, the committee is finding the original supply of chairs inadequate and is asking for the loan of chairs for the use of the needy women who are employed. Anyone having such articles to loan is kindly requested to communicate with the workroom.

"MOST FAITHFUL LOVER" EVICTED

You would never guess to look at him that Richard Martin was once one of New York's social lions. But it is true, just the same. At the height of his career as a man about town, he met and wooed the lady of his choice married another. He renounced social activities and family, let his beard grow and daily—winter and summer—sat on a Central Park bench gazing at the home of the woman he loved and lost. In doing this his money ran out—for the long-distance adoration lasted for years—and above, he is shown with his dog companion just after he was evicted the other day from the shack in which he slept in Long Island City.

POET LAUREATE VISITS STATES

A distinguished literary visitor to United States shores, John Macfie, poet laureate of Great Britain, is shown here as he posed after his arrival in New York. He snatched the tradition that he was a bar-tender in Greenwich Village in his youth. "I never attained that eminence," he said. "I merely swept the floors in a saloon."

SUES ELDERLY
SWEETHEARTVancouver Woman Charges 78-year-old Farmer With Breach of Promise

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 13.—Claiming—unfounded damages for alleged breach of promise to marry her, Miss Sarah Margaret Hoy, aged fifty, is a plaintiff in Supreme Court before Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald against Albert Blain, seventy-eight-year-old retired farmer, residing in Vancouver.

Defendant, it was reported, has extensive investments in Vancouver real estate, owning four or five houses and holding equities in about a dozen others.

Miss Hoy, whose father was chief of police for twenty years in Prescott, Ont., met Blain several years ago in Winnipeg. After his arrival on the coast, she renewed the acquaintance. She testified that in November, 1927, he asked her to marry him, that she accepted the proposal, and thereafter they were on an affectionate footing.

During the ensuing years, the fiancée's feelings cooled considerably, so that on arrival on January 10, 1932, at Miss Hoy's home, he neglected to kiss her as he had been accustomed to do. Words followed, and Blain departed after informing her that their friendship was at an end.

BAKED BEANS IS SATURDAY DISH

By Sister Mary
Some of the dishes of old New England have been handed down from generation to generation. Boston baked beans at Saturday's supper and codfish cakes on Sunday morning is the old-fashioned rule still observed by many New England housewives. Economical and nourishing, such meals are particularly adapted for winter use when heavy fare is wanted.

Boston baked beans are a wholesome and satisfying food that make a well-balanced menu if served with brown bread and a crisp salad of cabbage or greens.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS
Two cups pea beans, 1-3 pound salt pork, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 table spoon molasses, 1 table spoon brown sugar, 1-4 teaspoon ground mustard, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 small onion, 1 cup boiling water.

Pick over and wash beans. Cover with cold water and let stand over night. In the morning drain, cover with fresh water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Simmer five minutes, drain and rinse in cold water. In the bean pot put a thin slice of the salt pork and place the onion, peeled but not cut, on the pork. Pour over half the beans. Cut rind through every half inch, making cuts one inch deep of remaining pork and put on top of the beans. Add remaining beans, leaving rind exposed. Mix salt, pepper, sugar, molasses and mustard with boiling water and pour over beans. Add enough more boiling water to cover. Cover bean pot and bake in slow oven for six hours, removing cover the last hour of baking to allow the rind of the pork to become brown and crisp. Serve from bean pot.

Boston brown bread always is steamed rather than baked. Raisins may be added to suit the modern taste, but the original "Boston brown" was made without them.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD
One cup graham flour, 1 cup granulated cornmeal, 1 cup rye meal, 1-2 teaspoons salt, 2-4 cup molasses, 2-4-4 teaspoons soda, 2 cups sour milk.

Mix rye meal, cornmeal and graham flour with salt. Add milk and molasses and mix until smooth. Dissolve soda in 1 teaspoon cold water and stir into batter, beating hard for about thirty seconds. Turn into well-buttered molds and steam three and one-half hours. Then put into a moderate oven for twenty minutes. Do not fill molds more than two-thirds full and fasten covers securely. Otherwise the bread is rising might force off the cover. For steaming put the mold on a trivet or any form or standard, such as an inverted pie pan that will elevate the mold about an inch from the bottom of the kettle. Add boiling water to come up half way around the mold, cover closely and steam, adding more water as needed. One pound baking powder boxes make attractive shaped loaves or a five-pound loaf will be used if regulation molds are not at hand.

Laborer's Cottage

London, Jan. 13 (Associated Press cable).—Lord Halden, the third baron and the sixth baronet of that name, died yesterday at Bude Cottage Hospital in his sixty-fourth year.

Lord Halden's titled ancestry extended back 400 years, but throughout his life he suffered from financial misadventure which debarred him from taking a seat in the House of Lords. He had lived recently in a laborer's cottage. He was educated at Eton and was a former captain in the Royal Fusiliers. He was mentioned several times in the Great War dispatches.

New Medicine Drives Out Poisons, That Cause Torturing Stiffness, Swelling and Lameness

EASES PAIN FIRST DAY
You cannot get rid of rheumatic aches and pains. Neuritis, lame knotted muscles and stiff swollen joints till you drive from your system the irritating poisons that cause rheumatism. External treatments only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the new internal medicine that acts on the liver, kidneys and blood and expels through the natural channels of elimination, these dangerous poisons.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop—RU-MA eases pain first day—and so quickly and safely ends stiffening, crippling lameness and torturing pain that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores urge every rheumatic sufferer to get a bottle to-day. They guarantee it.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SELFISHNESS AND UNSELFISHNESS
DILATE LACK OF OWNERSHIP

Every mother's ideal is an unselfish child. She wants even the baby to willingly relinquish anything his grasping little hands possess. On the other hand she is almost as distressed when a child is too unselfish. She is understandably annoyed when he seizes his toys and possessions upon visiting child and is satisfied to let him depart with them. The edifice of both selfishness and unselfishness is built upon a foundation of ownership sense, and the child must acquire that before we can expect that he will voluntarily share his toys or refrain from giving them away entirely.

TRAIN EARLY
We begin to cultivate the sense of ownership with the very young baby. He baby wants everything he sees. He grabs for protruding pencils in an adult's pockets, for glittering eye sets and pendant beads. He screams and wails when his hands are loosed from these objects.

This is the moment to give baby, in exchange for other's possessions, something that is his very own. "Baby" is a bright glass marble that is his. The constant reiteration that is his mother's, this is baby's, eventually differentiates possessions into two classes, which classes baby learns to respect.

We emphasize this difference by

BUTTON IS CLUE

Vienna, Austria, Jan. 13 (Associated Press)—One button off his shirt sent a man to the gallows, thirty-five, to trial day for the murder of a woman. The man, twenty-four-year-old farmer's son, was found in the body of a woman who had been recently strangled. The only clue was a shirt button which lay on the ground just out of reach of the flames. Detectives discovered the button exactly matching the thread of other buttons on Lettner's shirt.

SAYS POLITICS
HIT RAILWAYS

W. B. Lanigan Reviews Fifty Years of Progress Before Rotary Club

National Assumption of Bankrupt Railways Termed Disastrous Experiment

"The railways of Canada can easily overcome their present difficulties if they are freed from political interference," the Victoria Rotary Club was yesterday assured by W. B. Lanigan, former general freight traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, at the conclusion of a review of fifty years of railway development in Canada.

In an eloquent address at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Lanigan recalled that in 1877, when he obtained his first job as a telegrapher, he had been paid $20 a month, but had to work 365 days each year. "In 1877 times were difficult in Montreal but we did not trouble ourselves very much about it," he said, "things are darned hard" and went on with our work. Those were days when there was a discount of ten per cent against United States currency," he mentioned.

A verbal picture of the prairies of Western Canada, before the advent of the railway, was presented by Mr. Lanigan. He told of scattered Indian bands roaming the vast grassy plains in summer and graphically described, in a few words, the pessimism with which railway lines were being extended towards the prairies from the Great Lakes and from the Pacific Coast. Only a comparatively few miles of those rails had been laid at the time Mr. John Macdonald attained office, Mr. Lanigan recalled.

GREATEST STATESMAN
It was due to the energy and determination of Sir John Macdonald that the railway was constructed to the Pacific Coast, he considered, praising Sir John as "Canada's greatest statesman."

Although the line was completed there was little traffic. Officers and employees were owed their pay and were pestered by creditors, as was the railway. Debts were owed everybody ranging from large contractors down to boarding-house keepers. That crisis was passed when parliament voted the struggling railway a loan of $10,000,000. Mr. Lanigan told amusing stories of the heated debate which marked passage of the legislation, which proved to be the lever to turn the railway towards success.

Development of Western Canada rushed ahead in the following years and to-day the great prairie provinces were proud of their fine cities, the great farms and enormous resources developed. The vast tract was no longer "the great lone land," he commented.

ABUSES CREATED
While Canada had been increasing in wealth and population, similar but larger growth marked the development of the United States. Railways had spread with great speed, industries had been developed on a scale sufficient to cater to a population of 100,000,000 and a keen competition developed, Mr. Lanigan said. One of the spread industrial practices of blacklisting the competing railways into giving secret rebates on freight rates. The condition had grown to the proportions of a scandal and resulted in the setting up of the Interstate Commerce Commission, a body vested with control of rates.

Although no such condition existed in Canada, Mr. Lanigan recalled that a public demand, encouraged by politicians, arose for the formation of a similar rate-control body in this country. The speaker said he had no quarrel with the commission, as it was probably just as well that the railways should publish their tariffs. Further, he praised the first personnel of the commission, but added that the passing years had witnessed a degeneration of the quality of the succeeding commissioners, the appointees usually securing office because of their political affiliations.

As an example, Mr. Lanigan told of one commissioner who visited Regina and gave a political speech. He asserted commission sittings had taken place at which the railways had been refused hearing and claimed that in one instance judgment had been given after the presentation of only one side of the case.

Mr. Lanigan said he had a great respect for Sir Henry Drayton, but neither best friend or worst enemy would assert that Sir Henry knew anything of railway affairs. He was only a capable lawyer who had been a public official.

NATIONAL OWNERSHIP
Mr. Lanigan recalled the Railway Commission, under Sir Henry Drayton, had been asked to report upon the merits of assumption by the Dominion of the bankrupt railways later incorporated into the Canadian National system. At that time the other commissioners were W. M. Acworth and A. H. Smith.

A majority report, signed by Sir Henry Drayton and Commissioner Acworth had favored assumption of the railways, and had been acted by the government despite presentation of an unfavorable report by Commissioner Smith. Mr. Lanigan said Commissioner Smith was the only trained railway executive of the trio, having worked his way from fireman to executive rank in the New York Central organization.

CRITICAL OF CHANGE
Mr. Lanigan described the assumption of the lines by Canada as "that disastrous experiment in national ownership." He told of the appointment of D. B. Hanna as the first president of the united lines, at a salary of $25,000. He praised the executive ability and skillful economy shown by Mr. Hanna, but was of the opinion that those great railroading virtues did not appear to be what the politicians of the government desired.

"At all events, they had looked around and found a new man for president, who, in his last year of office, had cost the country $140,000. They were not satisfied to obtain a Canadian, they had to go over to England and bring over a man of American extraction," he complained. Mr. Lanigan warmly praised S. J. Hungerford, now president, as a most able administrator, before proceeding to review the annual deficits of the Canadian National Railway in recent years. In the period between 1922 and 1931 the government-owned system had borrowed from the public, under government guarantee, a total of $472,000,000. In addition there had been direct government appropriations of $97,000,000, with cash grants to cover deficits totalling $132,000,000. There were also due the government various amounts aggregating $345,000,000, Mr. Lanigan declared, concluding with the statement that the railways were well able to recover if left to manage their own affairs.

MINISTER RESIGNS
Melbourne, Jan. 13 (Canadian Press)—Hon. Henry S. Gullett, Minister of Trade and Customs in the Australian cabinet, resigned his position yesterday. The veteran statesman, who is in his fifty-fifth year, informed Premier J. A. Lyons last week he had had his heart examined and at that time forecast that if the report was unfavorable he would resign.

saged in a fistic struggle. The result was a charge of assault against Massa and a counter-charge of assault against Ditto. Hearing of the first case opened in the Sanich Police Court yesterday afternoon.

Harold Tait, prosecuted and R. C. Lowe was counsel for Massa. The prosecution testimony, mainly given by Ditto and his wife, was that when Massa was told not to touch the truck in question he became enraged. Partake, the wife, said the accused had battered her bedroom door with an axe and dragged her by her hair to the kitchen, where her screams attracted her husband. Then the fight between the two ensued.

The hearing was adjourned for further testimony.

Permanent Tree Planting and

Royal Oak Burial Park

Beautification of Royal Oak Burial Park during 1932 included the permanent planting of trees in the parts of the cemetery which have been completely filled, according to the annual report of H. C. Oldfield, chairman of the board, presented Wednesday evening.

Drinking fountains, a bird bath, park seats and ornamental trees have been donated for beautifying purposes by Mrs. M. Watson, and were greatly appreciated, the report adds.

The financial statement of the board shows a credit balance of about $1,200 on the year's operations. The revenue was $19,017, an increase of $801.73 over the previous year, and the expenditures were $17,825.96, including debt charges and maintenance costs. The board now has $19,300 in its sinking fund investments and $9,000 in the maintenance fund.

There was an increase from 282 to 341 in the number of interments last year, bringing the total burials since the park was opened to 2,300. In addition 563 plots have been sold and reserved.

The chairman's report concluded with an expression of thanks to the members of the board, and superintendent and the secretary, H. G. Allan.

New Administrator Of Burnaby Expected Soon To Raise Loan

Ex-Football Star Is Facing Charge

Los Angeles, Jan. 13.—As a result of what police charge was his plot to have his wife slain, Gerald A. Craig, twenty-nine, captain of the 1926 University of Southern California football team, was held in jail here today on a charge of attempted murder.

Chief of Detectives Joseph F. Taylor accused Craig of planning to pay a killer $300 to beat Mrs. Ethel Craig, his forty-year-old wife, to death with a steel bar in their home so he might gain control of a joint estate estimated at $90,000.

Anticipated Commissioner J. Bennett Will Ask For Legislature's Approval; Quickly Disposes of Items of Business at Public Sitting

Burnaby, B.C., Jan. 13.—Sitting as a council in the council chamber, Commissioner John Bennett at his first public session disposed of an agenda of twenty items in eleven minutes. It was a programme that ordinarily would have taken a three-hour session of the former municipal council.

Commissioner Bennett announced every effort was being made to secure finances to clear off Burnaby's current debt of approximately $250,000.

Following the public meeting which was held Wednesday, representatives of ward three ratepayers complained that receipts in Burnaby were being charged thirty to forty per cent more for goods than relief cases in New Westminster and Vancouver, and as a result considerable suffering existed.

The commissioner stated he could make no move in this direction until the necessary finances were secured.

He pointed out the municipality was in debt to the merchants and therefore could not dictate prices to them. He intimated he appreciated the gravity of the situation and that every effort was being made to raise money to alleviate conditions.

DEBT CONSOLIDATION

While the commissioner was not yet prepared to make a public announcement, it is understood it is the intention to consolidate all Burnaby's current debts, including amounts owing to merchants, unpaid salaries and various other liabilities, and secure a loan which will probably have to be approved by the Legislature. It would be for a term of years, probably five.

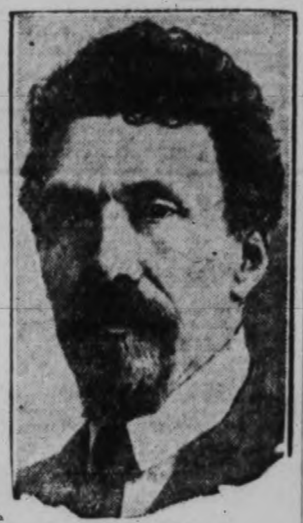

This is the problem now facing the commissioner. If he secures a loan he will then be in a position to draw up estimates for the year. These will be based on money it is expected will actually be derived from taxes and other sources. The tax rate will then be struck.

The relief officer reported to Commissioner Bennett that 2,056 cases were now on relief and that last week's relief had cost $15,011, up to Saturday.

Various estimates for temporary work were submitted, which the commissioner approved, subject to financial arrangements.

He announced all requests and complaints by ratepayers must be submitted in writing and would be dealt with at meetings he would hold every Wednesday.

GIVEN WARNING BY THE SOVIET

A. RYKOFF

Associated Press
Moscow, Jan. 13.—Discovery of a new "right" opposition within the inner councils of the Communist Party was announced yesterday evening with publication of resolutions of the joint plenary session of the party's central committee and central control committee, which warned Michael Tomsky and A. Rykoff, two old offenders, that if they continued their present behavior they would be subjected to "strictest discipline."

The resolutions summarily expelled A. P. Smirnov from membership in the central committee and dismissed at least two other party and government leaders from the ranks of the party.

Tomsky is now head of the state publishing society and Rykoff at present is Commissioner of Communications. Both of them are members of the central committee.

SEATTLE RELIEF CHARGE
Seattle, Jan. 13. (Associated Press)—Management of King County's twenty-two food commissaries will be taken over by the city's unemployed tomorrow, under an order of the board of county commissioners. Distribution of $200,000 worth of food each month has been under the direction of paid county managers, a system unpopular with the Unemployed Citizens' League.

Esquimalt Finances Attacked By Lockley

Put in Mire By 1932 Reeve and Council, Candidate Declares at Meeting

Reeve Heald Charges Opponent With Distortion in Outlining Conditions

In a meeting interrupted frequently by hecklers and more than once by the present reeve, Albert Heald, who charged his opponent with distorting facts, Trustee Alexander Lockley, candidate for the reevehip, attacked the 1932 council in his campaign before about 150 people in the Sailors' Club yesterday evening.
The meeting was arranged in Mr.
Lockley's interests.

Mr. Lockley made his biggest bid for support on the finances of the municipality, which he said the council had pulled into the mire, and on a plea for better treatment for the unemployed of the district.

Reeve Heald declined an invitation to speak from Mr. Lockley's platform, announcing he was holding another meeting in the Parish Hall this evening.

IN THE MIRE
If ever Esquimalt was in the mire,
he's in it now to the tune of $20,000.
Mr. Lockley said in announcing his intention of helping the district out of the morass.

He outlined the finances of the district, saying the 1932 board had been fog-bound when it came to face its responsibilities. He mentioned a letter from the bank which, he said, would bind the municipality heavily. Reeve Heald rose to protest the figures given by the speaker. Mr. Lockley apologized for the omission of certain assets.

Dealing with unemployment, Mr.
Lockley referred to his forecast three years ago that government grants would fall and reduce revenues for work.

If one thing would put Reeve Heald out of office it would be his treatment of the destitute unemployed of the district, Mr. Lockley stated.

The candidate referred to the "gift" of two relief projects to the municipality in the work at the drydock and on Bullen's Park. In the latter case he paid tribute to the donations of residents and the work of the 1932 reeve and council.

Touching on the crown lands question, Mr. Lockley stated all councils had attempted to secure special grants from the federal government to compensate the district for the loss in revenue through the exemption of the military and naval lands in Esquimalt from taxes. No one councillor nor council could lay claim to the origination of a request for aid, he declared.

SAYS ADMINISTRATION POOR
The manner in which relief has been administered in Esquimalt in 1932 has been crude in the extreme,"

Mr. Lockley said. The men engaged in relief should have been selected by the municipal engineer, not by the reeve or council.

One of the greatest stunts that was pulled off by the 1932 reeve and council was that of raising the wages of employees of the municipality during 1932, Mr. Lockley said.

"I brought down, in my budget, a wage of $4 a day for laboring men.
We lowered the clerk to $17.5 a month and I thought the same was good enough for the municipal engineer.
Reeve Heald voted for the reduction.
But I was blamed for it."

"This year they could not for shame put the laboring men to $5 a day.
What did they do? They raised them to the highest point they could, and then dropped them 10 per cent." The same applied to the two more highly paid men, he said.

"Those figures are distorted," Reeve Heald declared from the floor.
"If those figures are wrong I'll give $50 to the hospital, and if Reeve Heald is wrong he should do the same," Mr.
Lockley replied.

The meeting was disturbed as men in attendance differed with Reeve Heald.

If Reeve Heald had been averse to the raise in pay during 1932 he could have refused the arrangement, Mr.
Lockley stated.

He referred to the ability of the council to raise the mill rate to overcome the drop in the assessment.
No change in the amount payable by the taxpayers need necessarily follow,
he said.

Mr. Lockley turned to school matters, speaking of savings made by abolition of the by-law which called for an annual increase in teachers' salaries.

The two teachers who had been let out had gone because it was impossible with the funds on hand, to keep the school open. He said the crowding of school rooms with its attendant lowering of efficiency, he said.

EDUCATION COSTS
The costs of education should not be borne by the municipality. They should be carried more by the provincial and Dominion Governments, Mr. Lockley said, not chiefly by the land owners of the district.

Closing he challenged Trustee Farley to spend five minutes on the school curriculum. He furthermore declared Trustee Farley had not investigated ground conditions at the schools, although he was chairman of the grounds committee.

How could the present reeve and council go to the government for relief when they had raised employee's salaries, he asked.

George J. Cook, candidate for reeve, criticized the present incumbent on charges of unfairness towards the unemployed. He said he had done all he could for the under man, Mr.
Cook claimed. The working man would not mind paying higher taxes if he were given work.

A man did not want charity, he wanted work. He himself had been in business of various types in the district for the last thirty years, Mr. Cook said. Continuing, he paid tribute to the calibre of the men in the municipality, before stating he was in favor of putting reverted lands back on a tax paying basis, even if the land had to be virtually given away.

EXPENSES TOO HIGH
Benjamin Coley, candidate for council, declared he believed the expenditures of the municipality were far too high. They should be reduced, he believed. He favored a ten-man council without indemnities. Relief work, he did not think, had been given out fairly. Asked by a property owner where the present council had not practiced economy, Mr. Coley generalized on the engineer's department.
He did not name a specific instance.

Charles H. Smith, seeking a return to the council after a year's absence, congratulated the 1932 council on the shifting of Bullen's Park from its old site to its present one. He also complimented the council on the relief work it had found for unemployed in the district.

The municipal taxes would undoubtedly go up, Mr. Smith said. He favored the return of the public library service, abolished last year by the council.

Seeking re-election to the school board, Councillor A. T. Farley, who is also a trustee of the public library, asked the council to consider the efficiency of the educational system. When economies were effected two years ago through the reduction of municipal employees' salaries, the school board had not touched teachers' salaries, in violation through the School Act, nor the wages of janitors, which were paid by the municipality. That was hardly fair, he thought.

DEFENSES BOARD
Mrs. Sarah King, standing for her seventh year as school trustee, defended the janitors, saying they spent much of their time at the school, rising as early as 3 o'clock in the morning to attend to their furnaces. She paid tribute to the staff of Lamson Street School. Regarding those who had been dismissed, she stated it had been with the greatest regret the two had been let out when finances were lacking.

Economies had been carried out as far as possible, but certain repair work had had to be done. Not one cent was wasted on the school during the year, she declared.

From the floor came the complaint that children were being over-educated to the point where they were too good for their parents.

Seeking election to the school board,
Ivor Thomas stated he would make no promises, but would do his best for the municipality. He had no axe to grind, he said.

James Painter Jr., seeking re-election to the police board, referred to Work done by the Victoria and

CONVENTION OF SURVEYORS ENDS

Important Changes in Placer
Mining Staking Forecast

The annual convention of the Corporation of British Columbia Land Surveyors closed yesterday evening with a banquet at the Pacific Club, at which Hon. N. S. Loughhead was a guest. There were no formal speeches, the addresses being principally narratives of adventure in the woods and mountains of British Columbia.

Next year the annual convention will be held in Vancouver on January 11.

Yesterday afternoon's proceedings included presentation of a number of papers, notably a review by J. T. Underhill of mining legislation and proposed revision of certain statutes. The paper was sent from Barkerville, where Mr. Underhill is now working, and indicated that if proposed amendments to the Placer Mining Act were adopted, basic changes would be caused in the manner of locating bench and creek leases. The paper also offered a method of staking lode claims, which Mr. Underhill held more satisfactory.

GOOD OLD DAYS
The report of the historical and biographical committee brought to light an interesting story of the early days of Victoria. A letter place in the Provincial Archives shows that in 1864 a surveyor wrote the Provincial Secretary, that being overburdened with wealth, he would be pleased to loan the treasury $3,000, at the purely nominal interest charge of 1 per cent per month, payable quarterly.

A marginal endorsement—in the hand of Governor Douglas himself, gratefully acknowledging the offer.
A year later the government was asked if it will accept a further loan of $800 on the same generous terms.
The marginal minute this time is a laconic "yes," followed by four exclamatory marks.

municipality, noting the year had been completed with a slight surplus. The well as any in Canada, he declared.

Mr. Farley returned to the platform to explain the municipality's stand on the library question, saying it was a

LEG CRUSHED AS BOAT LANDS

Nanaimo Grocer Seeks $2-000 Damages For Accident at Newcastle Island

F. S. Cunliffe, counsel for Wj-liam Brown, Nanaimo grocer, today won his special appeal before the Court of Appeal here in his suit against the C.P.R. and Mrs. H. C.
Anderson for $2,000 damages as a result of his leg being crushed on July 1, 1931, on the Newcastle
Island pleasure resort dock.

Mr. Cunliffe claimed the company had allowed the landing float to become so overcrowded with people waiting for the launch ferry that when the ferry arrived it ran over part of the landing which had been submerged by the weight of the crowd.

In the rush of people trying to scramble aboard the ferry, Mr. Brown's leg was trapped between the boat and the landing and severely injured, he said. He claimed damages for negligence, for the launch ferry that when the ferry arrived it ran over part of
the landing which had been submerged by the weight of the crowd.

Michael C. Graves, counsel for the C.P.R., replied that Mr. Brown was at fault for standing too near the edge of the landing float, in voluntarily placing himself in a position of danger.

In not leaving the float when he found it over-crowded, and in attempting to scramble on board the ferry when he could see it was over-crowded. It was also claimed the C.P.R. was not liable because it had contracted with Mrs.
Anderson to furnish the ferry service between Nanaimo and Newcastle Island.

Victor B. Harrison of Nanaimo conducted the argument for Mrs. Anderson, linked as defendant with the C.P.R.

To-day's argument was concerned with the technical position in the action of Mrs. Anderson as the third party, it having developed from an order of the Justice Morrison of the Supreme Court.

First, second and third finishers in this year's Christmas swim here were given publicity in over 100 newspapers in various parts of the continent this year, said the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from the United Press Association today.

Enclosed with the letter was a page of the United Press illustrated section, showing Miss Carrie Grey, Lloyd Mathew and Bill Robertson, "Polar Bears" all as they appeared following the Yuletide plunge in the Inner Harbour.

The writer of the letter stated he was looking forward to seeing more pictures of the members of the scenic areas around Victoria, in the near future.

RELIEF SURVEY START IS MADE

Provincial Officer Commences Investigation of Victoria's Claims

The survey of Victoria's relief affairs promised by the provincial government was commenced to-day by J.
Vaughan Roberts, who was appointed as investigator.

The City Council asked for the survey
as a means of supporting its claim that the city is entitled to special consideration in the matter of relief allowances instead of coming under the blanket scale laid down by the Minister of Finance.

Every assistance has been promised Mr. Roberts in the way of providing information: the city's system and requirements.

MOTHERS' UNION HEARS SPEAKERS

The quarterly meeting of the Mothers'
Union was held in the Memorial Hall at 3 o'clock on Wednesday, the present, Mrs. Llewellyn-Thomas, in the chair. Nine new members were welcomed.

Mrs. Hugh MacKenzie gave an instructive talk on the work of the Canadian National Parks Association. The Mothers' Pension Act was briefly discussed, and Mrs. White told of her treatment by the pensions board. Mrs.
E. P. Laycock, the speaker of the afternoon, gave a paper on the help and inspiring talk on "Right Influence." An interesting report of the conference for overseas workers of the Mothers' Union, which took place in London in September last, was given by Mrs.
Brown-Constable. While in England
Mrs. Brown-Constable spoke to a meeting of the Mothers' Union in Oxford, and then of the work of Vancouver Island. The meeting adjourned, and tea was served, convened by Mrs. Corbett.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

FRANK S. BROWN
RAY TATE
CHARLES GRAHAM
W. STANLEY MOORE

Frank S. Brown, proprietor of the Two Jacks, celebrates a birthday today. Frank was born in Bolton, Eng., and was a tobacco salesman before he started in business for himself. He is the proud head of a musical se-tette. Frank is well known as a singer and has been heard over the radio on many occasions. The rest of the family, Mrs. Brown, three boys and one girl, all play musical instruments. Mr.
Brown claims also to play a good game of golf or tennis.

To-day is the eighteenth birthday of Ray Tate. Ray is a popular member of the Victoria Short Wave Club and is the owner and operator of an amateur radio station at his home, 389 Kerr Avenue, with the call VE5D.

Victor Charles Graham, treasurer of the Kinsmen-Gilepie Coal Company, celebrates a birthday to-day. Mr.
Graham is a member of the well-known Graham family, old-time residents of Esquimalt. Some time ago he was prominently in the community affairs of that municipality. He is a member of the Gyro Club.

W. Stanley Moore, assistant manager of the Moore-Whittington-Lumber Company, passes another milestone today. Mr. Moore is a member of the Gyro Club. Some time ago he was a valuable player on Y.M.C.A. basketball teams. He is a public-spirited citizen who takes a close interest in community affairs.

SAANICH GETS LIBRARY REPLY

Board Willing to Discuss New Contract, But Objects to Individual Subscriptions

Willingness to discuss a new contract is expressed in the reply of the Board of Trustees of the Victoria Public Library to Saanich's request for a discussion between the board and a committee appointed by the Saanich Council.
The reply has just reached R. R. F.
Sewell, clerk of Saanich.

In the reply, which was drawn up at the last regular meeting of the library board and sent over the signature of Robert Connell, chairman, it is noted that the proposed committee consists only in part of members of the Saanich Council and it is pointed out that such business between a municipality and the board must be conducted through members of the council duly authorized.

"We note, too," the letter continues,
"that you do not state the purpose of the conference, an important consideration. It is to discuss a new contract, your council is in possession of the financial regulations and in these no charge can be made."

"If, however, as press reports indicate, it is desired to discuss the private relationship of Saanich residents to the library by way of individual subscriptions, the board would point out that it has decided definitely not to consent to this in any municipally organized district, in the interests of the majority of the people."

The letter then indicates the willingness of the library board to arrange a suitable date and meeting for the purpose of discussing with council members a new contract.

COMMITTEE INFORMED

Mr. Sewell this morning stated copies of the Victoria library's letter have been sent to the Saanich Council, and Capt. H. B. Babin and F. P. Beckett, the non-council members of the Saanich library committee. The document was accompanied by a notation that the clerk considered further attempts to negotiate with the library commission would be futile.

The Saanich objective was concession which residents of the right to individually subscribe for library tickets, on terms similar to those accorded resident in North Saanich, Mr.
Sewell said.

MANY WITNESSES IN DAIRY TRIAL

Trial of Gilbert E. Heal's suit for $517.85 against G. A. Shepherd and Mr. Shepherd's counter-suit for $32.30 against Mr. Heal involving claims over the ownership of a cow, the furnishing of wagons, loads of wood, cultivators and bulis and the wages of a $110 a month ranch foreman at the Shepherd district, continued to-day.

Efforts are being made to conclude the case this afternoon.

D. S. Tait, who with W. P. Marchant is conducting the case for Mr. Heal, called to the witness stand Annie Elizabeth Heal, Chester C. Tuttle, Robert Thomas Neill, Walter Edward Heal and Arthur Lock and George Alfred Shepherd.

Defence Counsel Forrest L. Shaw called the following witnesses: David Thomas Piper, Herbert George Shepherd, Mrs. Helen Martin Francis Shepherd, Arthur Lock and George Alfred Shepherd.

MORE CUTS IN AGRICULTURE

Drastic reductions in agricultural services now enjoyed by the Okanagan is indicated in reports that Hon. J. W.
Jones, Minister of Finance, has asked Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, to lower his estimates at least $80,000 for the year. It is pointed out that services now duplicated by the federal government could be eliminated, excluding the Okanagan. One district agriculturist is stationed at Nelson, in charge of the important
Kootenay fruit lands; another at Prince
George and a third at Smithers.

The provincial department also appointed a markets commissioner for the prairies. This service may be transferred to the fruit growers' organization, which can carry on the work by the assessment of one-half cent per box on apples.

Farmers' Institutes have called attention to the absence of either federal or provincial agricultural experts in the Peace River, there being but three provincial officials covering British Columbia, excluding the Okanagan. One district agriculturist is stationed at Nelson, in charge of the important
Kootenay fruit lands; another at Prince
George and a third at Smithers.

The provincial department also appointed a markets commissioner for the prairies. This service may be transferred to the fruit growers' organization, which can carry on the work by
the assessment of one-half cent per
box on apples.

PRAIRIE JUDGE LIKES CLIMATE

Prairie People Can Enjoy Change Here, Says Mr.
Justice Martin

Expects Wally Martin Will Be Heard From Again on Davis Cup Team

"This is the nearest point where people of the prairie can enjoy a complete change of climate and that is why I am here," said Mr.
Justice William Melville Martin,
Judge of the Appeal Court of Saskatchewan and former Premier of that province, before he set out from the Empress Hotel to play a foursome to-day.

Mr. Martin is one of Victoria's best winter boosters. He comes here from Regina if possible every year, and spends much of his leisure time on the Colwood and Oak Bay courses, being a keen golfer.

On this occasion he plans to remain here with Mrs. Martin for about a month, after which time he will return to Regina to resume his judicial duties.
The judge, looking as young as ever,
is enjoying exceedingly good health,
but he feels that he needs a rest, and expects to enjoy complete relaxation here.

When Mr. Justice Martin was Premier of Saskatchewan he was considered good copy by newspapermen, for he was a fighting politician who always had the fortitude of his convictions and could be relied upon to stand solidly behind his policies.

But since he assumed the responsibilities of judge, while just as affable, he is naturally not so voluble.

SON STUDYING LAW
Whenever you wish to get Judge Martin talking, however, it is easy to do so by introducing the subject of his son's achievements on the tennis courts.

Wally Martin is one of the members of the Canadian Davis Cup team.

"Yes, he is still on the team, and I expect he will be playing again this year," said his father enthusiastically.
He is now studying law at Osgood Hall. He is in his last year, but that will not deter him from playing.
Mr. Martin is naturally enthusiastic over her son's prowess as a tennis player.

HELD UP BY SLIDE
While en route to Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Martin were delayed nine hours by a slide on the railway in the Hillier Valley between Glacier and Revelstoke. The slide in some places was seventy feet high, the avalanche being criss-crossed with trees and rocks. It had been swept down the mountain side.

The efficiency of the C.P.R. system was shown by the rapid manner in which the great rotary saws quickly cleared the track following the slide, said Mr. Martin.

Detroit Wings Continue Championship Pace In N.H.L.

Whitewash Maroons To Retain Deadlock For Division Lead

Hand Montreal Club 4 to 0 Setback; Rangers Drop
Boston By 3 to 1 Win

N.Y. Americans Turn Back Ottawa

New Forward Lines Function
Well as Canadiens Hand
Chicago 4 to 1 Beating

Gathering speed as they near the end of three weeks of unbeaten campaigning, Detroit Red Wings scored their fifth straight triumph yesterday evening at home, whitewashing the rugged maroons of Montreal, 4 to 0, before a crowd of 10,000.

The victory kept Detroit in a tie for first place in the United States section with New York Rangers, who advanced with a 3 to 1 win over Boston Bruins. The Rossens faded two points behind the joint leaders, but are still four in front of Chicago Black Hawks, who stood still in the standing as they took a 4 to 2 thumping from Montreal Canadiens.

New York Americans took Ottawa Senators in their stride yesterday evening, 5 to 2, as a trio of Winnipeg-bred forwards—two of them rookies—banged in all five goals. The win sent them into undisputed possession of second place, six points behind Toronto.

Maroons had no defenses the Red Wings could not clear in a single hop. The Birds were so businesslike in the first period, Eddie Goodfellow, Stew Evans and Johnny Sorrell scored before the invaders properly got going. Carl Vos scored another in the second and Detroit merely planted the defence barriers for the rest of the distance.

Rangers brilliant
Rangers played brilliant offensive hockey to beat Boston. Murray Murdoch and Ott Heller scored to give the Blueshirts a lead that Marty Barry required for Bruins. In the third period Cecil Dillon shot an easy Ranger goal. Dillon hit the net from centre ice.

With Starr and Red Jackson, former Winnipeg amateur, who broke into the major circuit together just two weeks ago, enjoyed a field day at Ottawa. Jackson poked in a pair of goals in the second period and Starr got two more in the third. The other American tally came from Nick Wasmie's stick. The veteran is also from Winnipeg. Until the third period the Senators held a good margin over the Americans but the Kilbrea and Cooney Welland were off on their shooting. Bill Touhey scored both Ottawa counters.

With Howie Morenz working on one forward line and Aurel Joliat and Johnny Gagnon, his former partners, on another, Canadiens showed 9,000 Montreal fans the best attacking force the Flying Frenchmen have devised all season. Morenz worked with two other speed fiends, Art Gougeon and George Mantha, but this line was responsible for only one of four goals. Morenz supplied Mantha with the pass for this one.

Gagnon, with Pete Lepine beside him, contributing just enough and not too much speed, bored in for a pair of pretty goals and Lepine got the fourth himself.

Two Rossens scored for Chicago in the first period from Roger Jenkins's pass and Tommy Cook got another in the third. Summaries for all the games follow:

English Cricketers Will Visit Victoria

Toronto, Jan. 13.—The English cricket team, now engaged in battle with Australia for the "ashes," representing world cricket supremacy, will travel through Canada on its homeward journey. According to present plans, the touring eleven will arrive in Victoria and pass through Toronto and Montreal, reaching here April 26, and sailing from Montreal a few days later. Owing to the time of year, it is not expected any exhibition matches will be arranged with the visitors.

Edmonton Superiors and U.S. Team Draw in Hectic Game Played at London

London, Jan. 13.—Edmonton Superiors and a team representing the United States played sixty minutes of furious hockey, interspersed with a lively fight, to reach a 1 to 1 tie here yesterday evening.

The fight, which occurred in the second period, occasioned considerable horror among the British spectators and was reported by Reuters News Agency as follows:

"Amazing scenes occurred in the second period, which was packed with thrills and sensations.

"The Americans scored a snap goal and a minute later, during an attack on the American goal, one of the Canadians aimed a blow at Coby, the American goalie."

"There followed immediately a free fight among the players round the goal mouth. About six players from each side took part.

"It was an ugly scene. Sticks were used and blows freely exchanged."

The Canadians tied the score in the last minute of play.

The teams:
Edmonton—Donald Stuart, Albert Powers, William Montgomery, Jim Graham, Gordon Walker, Bob Cross, Don MacKay, Harry Brown, J. R. Brown and J. E. Brown.

United States—Coby, Langmaid, Ingelhart, Hilliard, Sanford, Palmer, Holland, Breckenridge and Forbes.

ENGLISH FOOTBALL APPEARS AT LOWEST EBB IN MANY YEARS

be played at Wembley on April 29. During this period, but not including these particular days, twelve dates will have been absorbed in weeding out the contestants and deciding the finalists of this great event.

ENTHUSIASM ENTERS

It will not be until to-morrow that the appetite of the football enthusiast will be truly whetted, for it is generally recognized as the first round proper but in reality, the third.

The luck of the draw has brought no sensational pairings and it is generally anticipated that big clubs have been presented with "free passes" into the next round. Arsenal, that great London club presided over by Herbert Chapman, has been drawn to visit lowly Walsall, a little club operating in the northern section of the third division. Had the fates reversed the venue Walsall would, at least, have been assured a "bumper game."

However, the gods have decreed otherwise and the humble Walsall arena is to stage a match which should result in a virtual walkover for the London team.

UNLUCKY LONDON

The great Metropolis has hardly been granted its full share of luck, but that may come later on. Only three games will be played within its confines, on the grounds of Charlton, Millwall and the Corinthians respectively. The latter team, the only amateur club to receive exemption until the third round, is drawn at home to West Ham. Recognized as a smart club the Corinthians are always a great attraction, but it will be necessary for them to put on City. The semi-windup will bring together Eddie Madrick, Portland, and Bobby McLean, Tacoma. The first bout will start at 8.45 o'clock.

Newark Bids For Heavyweight Bout

Newark, N.J., Jan. 13.—Matchmaker Babe Culkin, Laurel Garden yesterday sent a telegram to Jack Dempsey offering a guarantee of $125,000 and a privilege of 65 per cent of the receipts, in a bid for the heavyweight match between Max Schmeling and Max Baer next June 1.

TESTA-GRENDA LEAD

Los Angeles, Jan. 13.—Eddie Testa, San Jose, and Alfred Grenda, New York, were the winners in the first round of the six-day bicycle race here. They had covered 1,176 miles.

Why Marriages Fall

Why Are the Successful Marriages So Rare? How Is It That Fine, Upright Men and Women Marry Because They Love Each Other, and in A Few Years Find Life Together Intolerable?

ONE MARRIAGE in every six in this country ends in divorce. Probably 75 per cent of the remaining marriages are just endurance records. A really happy marriage in which the husband and wife stay deeply in love with each other and in which they get never-ending joy out of their companionship is so rare as to make them marked couples in any community. You can count on the fingers of one hand and have a finger or so to spare for the successful marriages that you know.

Why is this? For these men and women are not villains who have consciously sought to wreck each other's happiness. They are not libertines and profligates. On the contrary, they are fine, upright, conscientious people with a high sense of duty. When they were married they were so much in love with each other that they thought that life would be endless, ashes and dust if they could not spend it together.

And here they are after three, five, or years of marriage finding life together almost intolerable, something that they have to set their teeth to bear. Utterly disillusioned, their dream torn to tatters, home a prison. And instead of the companionship they looked forward to, each on the other's nerves so that they quarrel over everything and have learned to keep silence to keep from starting something.

Their marriage is a failure. It brings neither one any happiness, yet neither one has consciously wronged the other. They are both faithful, loyal, trying to do their duty and both miserably wondering what has happened, what has killed their love, how they got that way.

Perhaps the answer to their bewildered question is that they expected too much of themselves, too much of each other, too much of marriage. They expected to live in bliss and in a perpetual fairy tale and because that could not happen they feel that marriage is a failure. It isn't come up to what it was promised to be and they feel like the little boy who wanted to go out of the circus and look at the posters again. They were so much more alluring than the real show.

These disappointed husbands and wives forget that we cannot live always at the high peak of emotion. There is bound to be a letdown when the ardor of the lover simmers down into the steady warmth of the friend. The world cannot always be filled with circling wings and stardust.

And the trouble is that while we recognize our own necessity of getting back to normalcy we are not willing to concede it to the beloved one. We want our husbands or our wives to remain in a trance in which they will see us as romantic figures instead of ordinary mortals. We want them to continue to be ardent lovers whispering impassioned vows of devotion in our ears, as if side line to making a living and supporting a family and cooking three square meals a day.

It is inevitable that every husband and wife should be disappointed in each other. There was never any human being like the aggregation of charms and virtues that every bridegroom thinks he is leading to the altar and every bride believes she is acquiring in the man she is marrying. Thus naturally it is a shock when the poor, deluded victims of their own imagination find that the Perfect Wife or the Perfect Husband they have conjured up doesn't exist and that they are united to individuals who are just as faulty and imperfect as they are.

Unfortunately, in their disappointment they are too often like spoiled children who, when they find out that what they thought was cake is only read and butter, throw it away. Because their husbands and wives are not all their fondest fancy painted they consider them total losses and do not try to make the best of what they have.

And then because marriage isn't the perfect picnic they thought it was going to be they simply throw up their hands and quit cold. They make no real effort to make a success of it as they would any business or career that they had elected to follow. If men and women put a little of the brains and the patience and the energy and the honest effort into making a going concern of their marriages that they do into trying to make a success of any other occupation on earth, there would be virtually no unhappy homes and disgruntled husbands and wives.

But every day you see intelligent men and women marry, knowing that their whole future welfare and that of their children depends upon their adjusting themselves to each other, yet neither will make any compromise or use any tact in handling the other. You see husbands and wives who make no effort to keep themselves attractive to each other. You hear them say insulting things to each other and go out of their way to badger and nag each other and you don't wonder that they come to hate each other. You would hate anybody who treated you as they treat each other.

So it is no wonder that so many marriages are failures. The wonder is that husbands and wives cannot see why their marriage is a failure and realize that they have deliberately brought their misery upon themselves. For the wrecking of every home is an inside job. DOROTHY DIX. (Copyright By Public Ledger.)

Safety in the Home

FIRE
Some persons would race a mile after a fire-engine, just to see what was going on.
It may be exciting to watch a fire, but if the fire should take place in your own home at night, I feel sure that you would not enjoy the excitement.

There is less smoke near the floor.

Last summer I paid a visit to Toronto and noticed the large number of brick homes in the city. In fact, I could see hardly anything but brick homes. I learned that there was a law in the city which compels people to build houses with walls of brick or stone. This law was passed after a fire which swept away a large part of Toronto.

To make your home fireproof is the best way to guard against fires. It has been stated that we cannot make a house "absolutely fireproof." Maybe that is so, but we can come very close to it. Houses with slate or tile roofs are safer to live in than those covered with wooden shingles.

Floors of houses can be formed of fire-resisting material. This includes lumber which has been treated in a way that makes it less likely to catch fire.

out of a second or third story window unless there is nothing better to do. On the other hand, do not rush blindly into the flames, or down a staircase which has been burned partly away.

Experts tell us that more persons die from breathing smoke or hot air than from actual burning. If you can possibly do so, place a wet cloth over your nose and mouth. If you crawl on the floor, the smoke is not so likely to injure you—because it tends to rise higher in the room.

Many a house has been set afire because too strong a fire was built in the stove. Mice gnawing matches have set fire to other houses. That is another good reason to keep only safety matches in your home—the kind which must be struck on a box.

And as they sometimes say to freshmen in a college, never blow out a gas jet!
